The Canadian Government Looking in Two Directions.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

MONTREAL (Quebec,) Jan. 30.—It is stated in well-informed political circles, that it is the purpose of the Dominion that it is the purpose of the Dominion government not to force the Manitoba school question to a vote at this session. The introduction of a remedial measure will be delayed as long as possible, and the discussion will be prolonged until the present Parliament expires. The government, it is said, will then go to the country telling the "blues" of Quebec that the obstruction of the Liberals prevented the carrying out of remedial legislation, while to the Tories of Ontario they will say that no interference with Manitoba was ever intended.

They will be aided by the disasisfied Tories, who, while oposed to remedial legislation, do not want to defeat the government. The Liberals, however, state that this bill will not save the government at the general elections, and stoutly predict that Mr. Laurier will be the next premier.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(Special Dispatch.) The Cuban revolutionary party held a secret meeting at the Astor House on Monday night. Thomas Estrada Palma presided, and Gonzales de Quesada, secretary of the junta, and Señor de La Cruz were the secretaries. The purpose of the meeting was to locate the blame for the disaster to the fillbuster J. W. Hawkins. Friends of Señor Palma were present in force to make it appear that he was blameless in the matter, but they did not anticipate such disclosures as it is reported were made. President Palma said that the Cubans were overjoyed at the news that the Committee on Foreign Relations had submitted a report recommending that President Cleveland use the good offices of the United States to have Spain accord to the Cuban insurgent the rights of belligerents. Already a synopsis of the report has been sent to Gens. Gomez and Maceo, and President Palma expressed the opinion that it would result in the leaders working with renewed hope.

It was said that Gen. Garcia, who was alleged to have been seriously ill yesterday at his home, was present at the conference today, but this was de-nied by President Palma, who said that he did not even know whether Gen. Garcia was in town or not. ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—The World this morning says that a meeting of Cuban patriots which was not known of outside the revolutionary band until last night, was held Wednesday night at the Astor House. The gathering was called by the council, or junta, of the revolutionists, at the instance of President Palma, who, with Gonzales de Quesada, Señor de la Cruz and other attachés of the New York headquarters, were present. Between fifty and sixty patriots also attended.

It. was said that Gen. Calixto Garcia, leader of the filibustering expedition wrecked Monday in the steamship J. W. Hawkins, put in an appearance in answer to a demand for an explanation of the disaster. The meeting was called expressly to hear from ing was called expressly to hear from

MACEO IN SORE STRAITS.

HAVANA, Jan. 30.—Reports in cir-culation here are that Antonio Maceo is in sore straits, his followers being scarce of both ammunition and provisions, and being obliged to slaughter their own horses to eat. These reports are not to be traced to any very authoritative source, and are in part based upon surmise.

are not to be traced to any very authoritative source, and are in part based upon surmise.

There is no doubt that Gomez is making strenuous efforts to open a way through the military line along the railroad from Havana to Batabano, and it is said Maceo has sent several emissaries to Gomez appealing urgently to him for succor.

In response to this appeal Gomez has succeeded in passing the military line, but the authorities claim that he has not been able to keep any line of retreat open to himself. Be that as it may, he is making progress westward, either with the purpose of joining Maceo or of creating a diversion in the north and drawing off the forces from pursuit of Maceo, while that leader works his way eastward in the south. The latter is regarded as the more probable course by observers here.

The Spanish authorities are dialming that if Gomez has in reality set out for the west and is not merely planning a countermarch back toward Havana province his position will soon be compromised.

The insurgents continue the work of The insurgents continue the work of ravaging the province of Santa Clara, and the destruction there is widespread. A band of a thousand has burned isolated haciendas and destroyed the crops in the cultivated zone of the district of Los Egidos.

The insurgent forces in Santiago de Cuba are by no means depleted, and numerous bands are soouring the country around Bayamo. Between Canas and Alfonso Doce, in Matanzas, the insurgents stopped an exploring engine and hanged the engineer.

A WRETCHED COUNTRY.

A WRETCHED COUNTRY. WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Represen-tative Money of Mississippi, the Sen-ator-elect from that State, has recently received advices from Cuba which are of considerable interest. According to the statements of Money's informant, the devastation of the island has been the devastation of the island has been carried to such an extent that poverty, famine and widespread suffering will surely prevail in the near future unless by some means the hostilities are brought to a close. The writer says the crops of this season have been practically destroyed throughout the island, the cane mills stopped, bridges burned, roads torn up and business almost entirely killed for the time. In the province of Santa Clara, where 225,000 sacks of sugar were ground last year, no wheels have been truning this season, for to start a mill is to give a signal to the "surgents to blow it up.

The luevitable result of the continuance of the war, says the writer, will be a famine throughout the farming districts of Cuba. The United States, being the nearest power, the neighbor

Committee on Foreign Affairs, and has taken pains to secure the most reliable information from responsible parties in Cuba. The tenor of his correspondence is that Spain will never be able to conquer the revolutionists, and that the continuance of the war will involve more or less loss of life and the impoverishment of both Spain and Cuba. A recent letter says the rainy season will begin in about three manths, and the poorly-fed and unacclimated youths who compose most of the Spanish regiments may be expected to die like sheep.

The Spanish troops will be unable to pursue any military operations then, for there are few roads and the forests and even the canefields are impassable to people unused to the country. The letter says many Spanish residents of the island, and all the Cubans support the island, and all the Cubans support the insurgents. The Spaniards desire some form of autonomy, and the Cubans want absolute independence or annexa-tion to the United States. Most of the holders of large properties are said to favor annexation, because they believe that greater protection to property would be secured under the control of the United States.

REFUGEES BRING NEWS. TAMPA (Fla.,) Jan. 30.-Two hundred and thirty Cuban refugees arrived here and thirty Cuban rerugees arrived nervinight. Marcos Garcia, Mayor of Santos Espiritu, a prominent autonomist and personal friend of Campos, has now gone with the insurgents. Since Campos's departure numbers have flocked to the insurgent banner. Maceo went into Pinar del Rio with 400 men, but now has 12,000. He is reported at Guinto, where he has established a new ity government. The commander in charge of Atares castle, near Havana, was taken prisoner on Monday and sent to Moro castle. He is suspected of selling guns and cartridges to the insurgents. Maceo is not wounded, nor is Gomez suffering with consumption. SORE OVER THE RESOLUTION.

SORE OVER THE RESOLUTION.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—A dispatch to the Standard from Madrid says that the papers here protest energetically against the United States Senate Committee's attitude on the Cuban question. They declare that the insurgents have fulfilled none of the requisites by international law or usage for the recognition of belligerency.

The government organs, with a view to pacifying the public irritation, point out that President Cleveland, his ministers and the Federal authorities so far have preserved perfectly correct and friendly attitude toward Spain, contrasting strongly with the popular sympathy and assistance which the insurgents have obtained from the American people.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 .- A very ani mated debate closed the Senate session late this evening over the question of taking the vote on the pending Silver Bond Bill. It had been expected throughout the day that Senator Jones of Arkansas, in charge of the measure, would hold the Senate in session until vote was forced. He had given notice of this purpose, and the Senators were prepared for it. But at 4:15 o'clock when Senator Vilas secured the floor for a speech, he yielded for a motion to go into executive session. Senator Jones explained that it was proposed to take recess until tomorrow. He felt satisfied, he said, that a vote could be taken in the near future. This led to much discussion. Senator Chandler was

After lengthy discussion the Senate went into executive session and then took a recess until tomorrow without any exact understanding as to the vote, although the talk had shown a purpose to secure a vote on Saturday.

He pointed out that our foreign indebtedness during the past twenty-five years had greatly increased, notwithstanding the fact that during the time there was a balance of trade in our favor in merchandise of $1.763, -500,000, besides silver exports of $356, 311,625 and gold exports of $271,190,721. "The cause," said Senator Mitchell. "is this vast balance of trade in our favor uring this period in merchandise, gold and silver, has gone to foreign lands, mostly to Europe, to meet the expenses of travel of Americans in Enrope. In this manner the debt has been created and is constantly accumulating, and we are unable to meet the interest, much less the principal, for the simple reason of great depression in the value of our exports since 1873. "There are in my judgment two remiedies to be applied. First, our shipping laws must be encouraged and built up, and we must become our own carriers; and, second, we must legislate to linerase the value of our exports of the second of seco this country virtually slaves to the money-lenders of Great Britain. We must reduce our expenses and instead of issuing new bonds stop incurring obligations abroad and increase, if possible, the value of our commodities, including silver, with which to meet this indebtedness."

Senator Mitchell discussed at some length the competition of China and Japan with the United States.

"It is incredible," said the Senator, "that the people cannot be made to realize the great, transparent fact, so absolutely apparent, that the effect of the operation of a single gold standard is to bring our laborers, our manufacturers, our artisans and our farmers as well into direct and ruinous competition with the laborers, manufacturers and artisans and the farmers of every silver-standard, silver-using country in the world.

"We have, as a nation, proclaimed loudly and properly and legislated vigorously and wisely against Chinese immigration, but we are threatened today, and especially is this so with reference to the Pacific Coast States and Territories, with an industrial foe, a mighty desolating army, in comparison with which Chinese immigration is an evil which Chinese immigration is an evil liliputian in character, and this state of things is only made possible by the destruction of bi-metallism in this country, and by the practical operation of the single-gold standard, but is actually generated, warmed into life, promoted, encouraged and sustained by the monometallic gold policy."

He said this was so "because the purchasing power of sliver in all sliver-using countries has not depreclated. It is as great today as ever before. The purchasing power of sliver buillion, even in this country, is as great now as ever at any time in the past. Their standard of value is sliver. The sliver yen of Japan and the tael of China go just as far in paying wages, in tilling the ground, in the manufacture of and in operating machinery, in herding sheep, in growing cattle, in manufacturing cloth, as ever they did at any time heretofore, whereas gold in the single gold-standard, gold-using countries, has appreciated, as measured in sliver, 100 per cent. Their products, their goods, therefore, are prepared for the market, even were there no difference in the cost of labor in the two countries arising out of diverse national and climatic conditions, at just one-half what it costs to produce the same articles in the gold-standard, gold-using countries. "What is the result? They, the Chinese and Japanese, the people of South and Central America, can afford, with trenching on their profits, to sell the product of their farms, of their shops, or of their factories, to the people of a gold-standard, gold-using country for just one-half the price in gold they would have been compelled to sell for if bimetallism had been maintained, and the destruction of the parity of value between the two moneys had not been brought about by silver demonetization."

Senator Mitchell described the great industrial development of Japan. As Senator Mitchell described the great industrial development of Japan. As to the bond bill, as it came from the House, he said: "I decline to give authority to the Secretary of the Treasury to issue additional bonds in time of peace. First, because I deny the necessity for any such additional issue; secondly, because I am unalterably opposed to a further increase of our interest-bearing public debt; thirdly, because in encouraging additional bond issues at any rate of interest. I believe we are, instead of sustaining the public debt credit, but hastening the rapid approach to national bankruptcy; fourthly, because I am a Republican, and every Republican convention in every State of the Union, which convened in the last year, has condemned in emphalic terms the present administration for issuing bonds, and thus increasing the national indebtedness. "I am unwilling under any plea of necessity, to aid the party to which I belong, in doing that which as a party it has emphatically condemned in others." Senator Mitchell described the great

Senator Mitchell said he was in favor of bimetallism, but he did not believe it could be brought about by an international agreement. He said he did not believe that those who were talking of an international agreement expected that such a result was possi-ble. He was in favor of independent bimetallism, and there was no prospect bimetallism, and there was no prospect of an international agreement. He did not believe that England, as long as she could control Germany and other countries, would consent to an international agreement for bimetallism.

Senator Perkins of California spoke briefly in support of the silver amendment. He and other Senators favoring the measure had been accused in the metropolitan press of "misrepresenting" their constituents for, it was asserted. California was in favor of the gold standard. Senator Perkins controverted this assertion. The last Republican platform of California had a plank declaring for the free and unlimited coinage of silver, resolutions were passed by the California Legislature instructing the Senators from that State to support the free and unlimited State to support the free and unlimited collage of silver. The people of California had made up their minds on this fornia had made up their minds on this subject, and, knowing this universal feeling in his State, the Senator said he would cast his vote for the silver amendment, thus executing the instructions given him, even though his personal views inclined to a more conservative course. He would prefer an American policy on the silver question, first coining the product of American mining.

Senator Stewart of Nevada rupted with the question: "Will the Senator support the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to I; independent of England?"

"Yes, I will vote for this measure," answered Senator Perkins, "although I do not regard its as entirely expedient at this time. I will respond to the derires of the people of the State I have the honor in part to represent."

Senator Perkins proceeded to urge the need of a tariff measure adequate to meet the country's expenditures, and to overcome the deficit. The Senator also approved the popular feature of the bond call. He pointed out, however, that no city west of the Missouri River could take bonds without paying the exchange between San Francisco

Senator Stewart of Nevada suggested that it was perfectly apparent that no vote could be taken this week. It would be better, he said, to arrange for a vote early next week.
Senator Jones dissented from this, saying he felt satisfied that a vote could be reached on Saturday.
Senator Harris of Tennessee urged that a recess be taken until tomorrow at. 2 o'clock, and then a recess until 10 o'clock Saturday, with an agreement to vote at 12 o'clock on Saturday. He said there were reasons why Senator

PACIFIC ROADS LEGISLATION.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The House Committee on Pacific Roads today heard statements by John C. Coombs of Sloux City and Representative Hilborn of California.

Mr. Coombs represented the Credits Commutation of Sloux City. He recommended that any legislation on the Pacific Roads be framed so that the Sloux City branch may gain a share of the proceeds of the first-mortgage bonds of the Union Pacific, and the original plan of Congress be carried out by connect-

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The Indian Appropriation Bill has been completed by the sub-committee on Indian Affairs having it in charge, and will probably be acted on by the full committee the latter part of the week. As agreed on by the sub-committee it will appropriate about $400,000 less than the amount provided for the current fiscal year. ### COMMERCIAL RELATIONS. An Important Report Sent to Con gress-Our Manufacturers.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 30-The President today sent to Congress, in accord-ance with the requirement of the sta-tutes, the "Commercial relations of the United States for the years 1894 the United States for the years 1894 and 1895, being the annual reports of the consular officers on the commerce and industries of their respective districts." Included with the reports is an introductory review of the commerce of the entire world, a feature of great value, which is revived after being abandoned in 1880, owing to the inability of the Bureau of Statistics to compile it, because of being overburdened with other work. Secretary Olney says:

WASHINGTON, Jan, 30.—Chairman Dingley today told a delegation from Boston, who were given a hearing by the Ways and Means Committee in behalf of a plan of the Merchant's Association of Boston for the maintenance of the parity of all kinds of money that the House had passed two bills which would if enacted, avert the danger to the treasury which they feared. He advised them to bring all the arguments in their power to bear upon the Senate to pass the bills, and to create a sentiment in favor of those bills among the commercial bodies of the country, and arouse these bodies to petition the Senate to pass the two House bills. Chairman Dingley said all the trouble with the greenbacks would be overcome simply by providing sufficient revenue to prevent a deficiency. In more than two years and a half the government had had insufficient revenue to meet the current expenditures and the deficiency had been met by using the redeemed greenbacks, which had thus been made available for a second presentation for redemption. If the revenues had been sufficient to meet the expenditures the greenback could not have gone out again except in exchange for gold or for purchase of the bonded debt. (BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) NEWPORT NEWS (Va.) Jan. 30.— The third warship constructed by private shippard since the war, and also the largest merchant steamer built in this country, with the exception of two American transatlantic liners built by the Cramps, were launched successfully here by the Newport News Shipbuilding Company at high tide this morning in the presence of a distinguished party from Washington, members of the House Naval Affairs Committee, Admiral Brown, comanding Norfolk navy yard, and 5000 people from adjacent yard, and 5000 people from adjacent towns.

There were present also representatives of Admiral Bunce's great fleet in Hampton Roads, Senators Carter and Mantle of Montana, and Assistant Secretary McAdoo, who represented the Navy Department in the absence of Secretary Herbert. Adding to the spectacular effect produced by the steamers and saling vessels gathered for the occasion, was the battleship indiana, which came up from Fort Monroe this morning to load coal pending departure for Port Royal. Both the new vessels are the finest type of their class ever turned out by this yard, which soon begins the construction of the mammoth battleships Kentucky and Kearsarge, authorized by the last Congress.

the mammoth battleships Kentucky and Kearsarge, authorized by the last Congress.

In order to take advantage of the flood-tide, the launch of vessels took place before 11 o'clock, one following the other as fast as workmen could knook away the shores and wedge up the keel. The last to take the water was the merchant vessel, whose name had been kept secret until she began to slide down the ways, when Miss Nellie S. Eldridge of Boston broke the usual bottle of wine and chirstened her the Grand Duchesse. As the stern of the great hull caught the water, the shrill whistle of steamers gave her greeting, while thousands of people showed appreciation by prolonged cheers for the Newport News shipbuilding yard and C. P. Huntington, as its founder. What route the new vessel is intended for has not yet been announced. Thirty minutes after the Grand Duchesse had been towed out of the way, the warship Helena was ready to take to her natural element. With slight hesitation, due to a lack of sufficient tallow, and with stately precision, she gilded off the ways, as Miss Agnes Belle Steele, daughter of Mayor Steele of Helena, smashed a champagne bottle and named her in honor of Montan's can be taken, even though it take all hight-reached tomorrow or Saturday. At the conclusion of the ceremonies, President Orcutt entertained the visitors at a banquet where the ships and company were toasted by Senators, Representatives and others. The keels of the new battleships will be laid near the spot where the two ships were launched today. In the evening the Washington visitors returned home. The gunboat Helena is one of the two ships of peculiar design built for the navy by the Newport News Company, her sister ship, the Wilmington, having been launched last October. The purpose was to secure an efficient type of vessel for the navigation of shallow and shifting rivers, such as are found in China, which might still possess seagoing qualities sufficient to ensure safe passage from the United States to foreign stations, and also to enable them to be used in carrying the United States flag into the many ports of South and Central America, which are now inaccessible to our warships owing to shoal water. So, the Helena, when complete with all stores aboard, will draw only nine feet of water and may go where any schooner abe to navigate the seas can enter, and, while not a battleship in the sense of possessing armor and big guns, will carry eight four-inch rifles, guns quite large enough to meet anything short of armored craft and heavy-fortifications, and a number of smaller machine guns, so mounted as to afford an extremely destructive fire upon mobs or troops on shore.

Catlin, a mine-owner now in the city, is somewhat concerned about his brother, Robert Catlin, one of the American mining engineers now in the Transvall. He has heard nothing from him since the Jameson episode. He is a friend of Messrs, Curtis and Hammond, and went out to the South African gold fields at the request of Hammond to take charge as manager of the East and West Simmer and Jack mines, and the Dunleeps, and as controlling engineer of others. Catlin is 43 years old. He was born in Vermont. After finishing a course in engineering at the University of Vermont he went West twenty years ago. He was at different times connected with the Tuscarora Company's Navajo, Belle Isle, and North Belle Isle and other mines. Last summer he accepted terms made by British owners of mines, and started for the Cape, taking his family with him. His brother, speaking of the mining operations in the Witwalters Rand, said:

"You see, they were not accustomed to deep mining out there, and the services of our miners were called in. Heretofore it was surface work, from 200 to 400 feet. The direction taken by the veins indicated that at a greater depth gold could be found on adjoining plots, and it was shown to be true by the use of drills. Now they are sinking shafts to a depth of 4000 feet, and where $35,000,000 this year. Not only engineers but numbers of miners have gone from the United States to the new fields. It was learned by the horde of detectives who were deputized by the Emperor to ferret out the purloiner of the precious epistles, that the aforementioned Welhelmstrauss friend of the Kaiser had shown one of these letters of Mme. Edmonde, Adam, who caused its publication in Paris. This, however, did not account for other letters which the sensational Paris papers inserted in their columns, for the Kaiser had ordered the Wilhelmstrauss lady to give up all the letters from him in her possesion, and had securely locked them in the Schloss.

The detectives found at last that Von Hake, who, as one of the editors of the Berliner Post, and a favored visitor to the Schloss, had access to the imperial library and other rooms, had actually stolen the letters from the Kaiser's private desk, and, after futile atempts to sell them to certain German papers, found a market for them in the French capital. The letters have all disappeared. A search of Von Hake's house by the police fails to bring any more to light. The Emperor swears he will cause Von Hake to be punished to the full extent of the law.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—(By Atlantic Cable.) This is the anniversary of the execution of Charles I. of England, who was beheaded January 30, 1649. This morning small parties of "Legitimists" arrived at Trafalgar Square with floral wreaths, which they attempted to place at the foot of the statue of Charles I. The police compelled them to remove the wreaths. The crowd, with uncovered heads, repeated the collect referring to the so-called martyred sovereign, then they offered up prayers for the dead King. When the demonstration began to attract much attention, they were dispersed by the police.

Later, apparently by orders received from the Chief of Police at Scotland Yard, beautiful wreaths insortbed: "In memory of the White King," were allowed to be placed at the foot of the pedestal.

members of the bar acting with the committee, a number of inspectors charged with fraudulent conduct at the recent primaries have been arrested and held for trial by city magistrates, and their cases are now pending before the grand jury. Further work in this direction is now under consideration."

The committee gives a list of the Assembly districts in which they allege that the enrollment has been padded to the extent of 25,000 names out of a total of 77,000. Continuing, the report reads:

"The general conclusion drawn from the investigation and from evidence leaves no possible avenue of escape. It is that the men in control of the county organization have devised and carried through a deliberate scheme of wholesale fraud, intended to secure for themselves, without regard to the will of the majority of the Republican voters, the absolute control of the organization and of the delegations from this city to the National and State conventions. The frauds were not sporadic. They were so general throughout the city, the methods pursued in various parts of the city were so smillar, and the work was so skilfully concentrated at the points where it would most surely accomplish its purpose, that the proof of a carefully-prearranged design is irresistible.

"It is also clear that the greater part of the fraud practiced by the exponents of those in control of the present party machinery was the result of general demoralization and lowering of moral standards, resulting from the methods of the official heads of the party so that many workers who would have preferred honest methods were tempted into fighting their opponents with their own weapons."

Resolutions were passed favoring a new enrollment throughout the city. By many this is regarded as the first step toward a separate and independent organization. When the enrollment is completed the Committee of Five Hundred will then proceed to take further action.

INDIANA'S APPORTIONMENT ACT INDIANAPOLIS, (Ind.,) Jan. 30.-The supreme Court this afternoon declared invalid the legislative apportionment of 1895, passed by the Republicans. The case came up from Sullivan county and involved also the Apportionment Act of 1893, passed by the Democrats. This also goes down as unconstitutional. By a former decision the apportionments of 1891 and 1879 were found invalid. Today's decision makes it necessary to go back to the Act of 1885.

The decision suggests that a special session of the Legislature might be called to remedy the situation, which has become chaotic by today's decision. The Legislature is Republican and Gov. Matthews has said that he would not call it together. The Act of 1885 was passed by a Democratic Legislature. The Republicans will probably file a suit attacking it.

A BREAK IN KENTUCKY. FRANKFORT. (Ky.,) Jan. 30.—The first break in the Hunter ranks occurred today, when Dr. J. E. Chambers of Kenton voted for Judge W. H. Holt of Frankfort. The announcement of Chambers's vote caused a cry to go up among the anti-Hunter people, who declared that it was all over with him. Holt's friends assert that if all the Republicans will go to him he can be elected. The ballot resulted as follows: Hunter, 64; Blackburn, 56; Buckner, 2; Carlisle, 5; Evans, Holt, Hazelrigg, Brown and Grace, 1 each.

A CHEERFUL FUNERAL Cremation of Miss Mary Toplius

Done to Music.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Theosophists met yesterday in Graceland Cemetery and watched the cremation of the remains of Miss Mary Toplius. Instead of the scene being a sad one, the seneral feeling which permeated the assemblage was one of calm rejoicing, partaken of even by the nearest and dearest friends of the girl who had dearest friends of the girl who had dead. Instead of tears there were songs and music, flowers, an address in cheerful strains and a noticeable absence of the usual emblems of death.

Theosophists do not look on death as others do, hence the remarkably cheerful scenes which marked the consumption by fire of the remains of Miss Toplius. Miss Toplius, who was a native of Finland, had been a teacher of manual training in the Aggassiz school.

In brief, Mrs. Stockton will have to submit to a church trial on charges of immorality, and the charges that have been so difficult to place against the pastor himself the church will attempt to get at indirectly. The matter has been coming to a head for some days. The ladies of the church have been particularly distressed about this phase of the scandal, and Mrs. Stockton's appearance at the prayer-meeting Wednesday night capped the climax.

The principal foundation for nt against Mrs. Stockton is the Gear affidavit, which was given to the press by Dr. Brown on January I, in which the woman is accused of having attempted to extort money from the master. At a time subsequent to the At a time subsequent to the date of the alleged extortion, Dr. Brown attempted to grace a church festival programme with Mrs. Stockton's name, and threatened to discipline a member

The meeting, however, did not take place, Dr. Brown telephoned to Mrs. Cooper, who is a sort of lay preacher and Bible-class teacher in the First Congregational Church, that his attorneys had forbidden him to make the proposed explanation. As a result, Mrs. Cooper's conviction of her pastor's culpability remains unchanged. She and other members will try to prevent Dr. Brown from preaching pending the council of investigation.

"I am out of the business for good," said Miss Webber, one of the fair wait-resses. "It does not pay. I found that the men paid more attention to the bloomers than they did to eating, and the constant comments were very unbloomers than they did to eating, and the constant comments were very unpleasant to me. Why, men were even so bold as to say. Ah, there, my bloomers, give me a piece of pie. What was a girl to do when a man made such a remark as that. We were paid for keeping our temper, but sometimes I felt like giving those men who used to make fun of us a elarp in the face. At first we did a rushing business, for men would come in and order things just to see us wait on the table. The proprietor said we were a howling success. Suddenly there was a change, and business went to pieces. Oakland is a church town, you know, and the people here are not in favor of bloomer girls in restaurants and innovations of that kind. They will not tolerate them, so I concluded to drop bloomers and go back to skirts again."

Nearly, all of the depositors have received money coming to them under the first or 30 per cent. payment on their accounts, though there are still several thousand dollars as yet unclaimed. President LaRue this morning expressed the utmost confidence that every dollar due to the creditors of the bank would be paid them.

"It could hardly be possible for us to fail in settling up in full," he said, "considering how our assets compare with the liabilities. After we have completed the making of the present 30 per cent. payment we will owe only about $120,000, and against this we have something like $600,000 of assets. That fact would seem to make it evident that the bank's creditors have nothing to fear, since all that is needed is a little time in which to realize."

William Christ Tells in Court Ho He Killed His Wife. (BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 30.—This afternoon the taking of testimony in the murder case of William Christ was completed, and arguments will begin tomorrow. The sensation of the day was when Christ took the stand, and practically admitted that he killed his wife because he had learned that she had been unfaithful. He accused her of wrong-doing, he said, and she laughed sneeringly, and arked: "What are you going to do about it?" He said he became enraged at her cool concern, and did not remember what followed.

The story was told with such dramatic effect, however, that the jury could easily reach the conclusion that when his wife practically admitted her guilt, he grabbed his pistol and killed her. At first Christ maintained that his wife was accidentally killed by the dropping of his pistol upon the floor. SACRAMENTO, Jan. 30 .- This after

The action was the sequel of a long-standing vendetta between Ashe and Williams. The plaintiff sued to gain possession of the famous mare Geraldine and other racehorses, or for their value in cash if delivery could not be had. It was charged that Ashe forcibly took the horses from the possession of Williams after a sale of the stock by him (Ashe) to M. J. Kelly, a Jockey. Keily in turn conveyed the horses to Williams for an alleged valuable consideration. Ashe denied the ownership asserted by Williams. He alleged that the horses were simply pledged to Kelly to secure an indebtedness of $4721.50. Kelly held the horses under bills of sale, which, however, according to Ashe, were intended only as evidence of the pledge. The transfer to Williams was declared to have been wholly without consideration.

Tip Supreme Court found nothing SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30 .- The Su-purchased the stock except in good faith and believing Kelly to be the owner. Such was Williams's testi-mony, which was borne out by the de-claration of Kelly.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN'S AWFUL PLIGHT Wound in His Head and His Eye

Closed Tight.
(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.) SPRINGFIELD (III.) Jan. 30.—(Special Dispatch.) John L. Sullivan was not able to leave with his theatrical company this morning, but is under surgical treatment, still suffering from injuries received in the fall from the train near Galva, Ill., yesterday. Sullivan is thoroughly so-bered and aware of his condition, and being anxious to get well, obeys every injunction of his physician, Dr. Dixon. That gentleman made the following statement this evening:

"Sullivan is in a precarious condi-tion, and has sustained serious wounds that may result in fatal complications. The wound on his head will slough away, and may cause erysipelas. Both eyes are closed tight, and he suffers much pain. He will not be allowed to leave his bed for a week. He is not drinking, and is attended by his wife. His recovery will rely upon the healing of the wound on his head. He is interrelly in tired also. I believe I can internally injured also. I believe I can bring him around, but it will be a local paper from New Haven, Ct., says that Capt. Treadway of the Yale University club, in company with Mr Desidour, arrived in New Haven las Desidour, agrived in New Haven last night from New York, where, it is understood, there was a meeting regarding Yale's boating interests. Capt. Treadway was shown the report that the 'varsity crew would not enter the acc on the Hudson and was asked what course Yale would pursue as to a race this year. He replied:

When discovered on the track, Sulliwan was unconscious, and his clothing had in some manner become ignited. Had he not been found when he was, he would have undoubtedly burned to death. It is thought his clothing may have been set on fire by the cigar which he was smoking.

"It has been the intention of the Yale University club to arrange a contest with the winner of the Oxford-Cambridge race this year, but, owing to the impossibility of fixing a date which would be convenient to the Englishmen as well as ourselves, the Yale Boat Club has decided to enter her crews in the Henley regatta, which will take place in July of this year."

CANTI ELOPE. Couple Flee from Austria to America-Now Living Happily at the House of a Russian Priest

OUNT KIELMANSEGG AND NINA

(RY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.) EW YORK, Jan. 30.—(Special Dispatch.) Count Kielmansegg and Mile. Nina Canti arrived on the steamer Fuerst Bismarck on Friday, and now are said to be living at the house of a Russian Priest. When the culmination of the love affairs of the nobleman and the danseuse become known, a sensation will be caused in Austria's circles, for Count Kielmans family is one of the most powerful in the empire. Nina Canti is known in all European capitals as a premier

Count Kielmansegg, who is goodooking and 25 years of age, was des-tined by his family to follow in the tootsteps of his uncle, one of Austria's governors, and for years was in the diplomatic service in Prague. Nina was dancing at the principal theater in Prague. The final step came two years ago. One night the managers of the theater were surprised to learn that their dancer had left. They traced her to Hamburg, where it was after-ward found she had sailed for America. Both are here and happy. The diplomatic corps also missed Count Kielmansegg at the same time. Investigation showed that he had gone o Southampton and embarked on the Fuerst Bismarck also. In leaving Aus tria in this manner, Count Kielmansegg forfeits large estates. He is the eldest son of a family which has an income of many thousand mark; a CATHODE RAYS.

Marvelous Discoveries Resulting from Prof. Wright's Experiments. (BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Prof H. W. Wright, who occupies the chair of Exrimental Physics at Yale University and is in charge of the Sloan Physical Laboratory, has, according to the Evening Post's New Haven correspon-

Evening Post's New Haven correspondent, made successful experiments recently in photographing objects behind opaque bodies by the agency of cathode rays, in which Prof. Roentgen of Germany is reported to have achieved remarkable results.

Prof. Wright's experiments were made with a great variety of substances and it was found that strong impressions were obtained upon a photographic plate even when it was enclosed in an opaque wrapping of black paper and covered with a pine board, half an inch thick.

RUNYON MEMORIAL.

Floral Offerings Sent by the En peror, Diplomats and Others. BERLIN. January 30.—(By Atlantic Cable.) Memorial services were held at noon at St. George's Chapel in honor of the late Theodore Runyón, United States Ambassador to Germany. All seats were occupied by a distinguished congregation. The imposing catafalque upon which the remains rested was buried under floral offerings, including tributes from Emperor William and the Empress, ex-Empress Frederick, the German Foreign Office, members of the diplomatic corps, the American colony, German friends of Mr. Runyon, the staff of the American embassy and that of the United States consulate. The Emperor, who was kept away by an important Cabinet meeting, was represented by Adjt. Count Von Plassen, the Empress and ex-Empress were represented by high court officials. Prince Frederick Leopold of Prussia was a touching tribute to the Americanism and sterling virtues of the deceased. At the close of the memorial services the members of the diplomatic corps, German officers and others passed in file before the widow and family, who were assisted by the chief secretary of the United States Empassed ondolence. A detachment of troops was drawn up before the church as a guard of honor. The American colony met this afternoon to express sympathy for Mr. Runyon's family. Prince Frederick Leopold represented Emperor William.

The chapel was transformed into a mortuary chamber and the catafalque in front of the altar was covered with palms, including one from President Cleveland. It was inscribed in large silver letters, "Blessed Are They That Die in the Lord." The casket was covered with the Stars and Stripes, upon which Count Von Plessen, the adjutant-general, placed a magnificent wreath from the Emperor.

Prince Frederick of Hohenzollern, Prince Hohenlohe, the Imperial Chantochor; Baron Marchal von Biberstein, the Minister of Foreign Affairs; Gen. Bonsart Schellendorf, the Minister of War; Count Von Wadel, secretary of the Emperor's household; Herr Thielen, Minister of Public Works; Baron Von Berlepsch, Minister of Commerce; and a dele

The resolutions as aproved were as follows:

"Whereas, we desire to place on record the expression of our sincere grief and regrets, therefore be it.

"Resolved, that in the death of our lamented ambassador we deplore the loss of an upright and good man, and an able, faithful and eminent representative, a sagacious, pure-minded statesman and guileless patriot, who will for ever be remembered with gratitude and honor, and

"Resolved, that we send copies of these resolutions to his widow, the President of the United States, and the State Department."

Agreement Reached as to the

THE COAL CARRIERS.

Division of Tonnage.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The all-absorbing topic of interest in Wall street today was the adjourned meeting of the preseidents of the eleven great ranthracite mining and carrying companies. The session today was begun with a full attendance. The committee presented its report and a great deal of squirming was done by officials of lines unfavorably affected by the figures presented and considerable controversy resulted over the question of adopting the report. No positive news from the conference was received in the street during business hours. The meeting adjourned tonight and it was then announced that an agreement had been reached regarding the division of tonnage between the respective companies. This compact was not signed, but adopted by votes. It goes into effect from February 1, 1896, until January 1, 1897. After the expiration of this period the agreement will con-

In the "early fruit belt;" $100 per acre locates you on the best citrus and deiduous fruit land in the State, among cultured people and where you can make money. Howard & Wilson Publishing Company of Chicago, progrietors. Descriptive pamphlet on application to C. L. HUBBARD, room $1,1094, S. Broadway.

FOR SALE—

25 acres, 1 mile from Downey; 3½ acres to fruita, 2½ acres for alfalfa; good 6-room house, barh, crib and stable, for $2500.

1 acres, ½ mile from Downey postoffice; 250 young fruit trees of all varieties; 3-room cottage, chicken-house and 3 dozen chickens; good well at the door; $500.

40 acres; 5 to 11-year-old softshell walmuts; 35 acres as fine alfalfa as there is in this valley, sowed in March and cut 7 times last season; 4-room house, barn, crib and stable; $162.50 per acre; $2500 cash, balance 1, 2 and 3 years.

Take it one year with another, there is more money made in raising alfalfa, cows and hogs than anything in California. We cut our alfalfa from 7 to 9 times a year, we get 1 to 1½ tons per acre for each cutting, and it will sell this year from $10 to $12 at 10 ni the field.

If you want a ranch that you can make money on, get you a good alfalfa ranch near Downey, where you can raise wainuts, oranges, lemons, apples, peaches, pears, prunes, figs, apricots, plums, cherries, corh, barley, pumphins, beets, plemelons, citrons, vegetables and every kind of fruit known to man, in a valley where alfalfa is king and 100 miners' inches of water goes with every ranch I sell, and will flood ten acres in ten hours, and costs loc a hour, or 3 for 10 hours. There are parties in Los Angeles who are continually misrepresenting this locality, while in fact Los Angeles and Pasadena virtually get their support from this valley.

16 you want a bargalh, come and see me in person.

RENAULT CAPTURED.

Deputy Sheriff White Caught the Crasy Frenchman,

Benair Renault, the crazy Frenchman who is again charged with criminal as-sault, was caught yesterday evening by Deputy Sheriff White, and is now in Deputy Sheriff White, and is now in the County Jail.

Sheriff Burr was not informed of Renault's alleged assault on the Kersauson twins, and Mrs. Bonde at Manhattau Station last Monday till late Wednesday afternoon. When apprised of the matter, he immediately detailed Deputy Sheriff White to search for the culprit, and that officer a few minutes later was on Renault's trail.

White soon learned that Renault had gone to Orange, and the deputy took the first train for that place yest-orday morning. Arrived there, he learned that Renault had gone back to the Laguna ranch, so the deputy sheriff hied himself to that place, only to find that Renault had left a short time before for Los Angeles.

for Los Angeles.

White again took up the trail and followed Renault to the city. Renault traveled in a wagon, a rancher coming to town being kind enough to give him a lift. He repaired at once to the French quarter, upon his arrival here, and twenty minutes afterward Denuty.

and twenty minutes afterward Deputy Sheriff White found him at the corner of Commercial and Wilmington streets. Renault made no resistance when arrested, but simply inquirel what he was wanted for. On being told the charge was assault to commit rape, he said in an-off-hand manner, "Oh, I've been arrested for that before." It did not seem to strike him that this was a very serious charge.

Renault's first arrest for this offense was made May 2, 1892, by Deputy Sheriff Brady. That was the time he shot Sheriff Aguirre in the arm. June 22, 1889, he was discharged by the court. May 14, 1891, he was arrested on a new charge of indecent assault. June 29, 1891, he was sentenced to San Quentin for three years. At the expiration of his term he returned to Los Angeles and applied to Sheriff Burr for a job as turnkey at the County Jail, alleging that he had been in prison so long that he knew just exactly how prisoners should be handled. He hung around the Sheriff's office until the Sheriff finally had to order him to keep away. Lately he is said to have been a camp follower of the Salvation Army. He seemed rather pleased to get back to jail.

STOPPED THE MUSIC.

STOPPED THE MUSIC. Puente Pete Was Convicted of Battery Yesterday. Puente Pete, alias George T. Bloomer, true name Peter Lohman, the celetrue name Peter Lomman, the cene-brated ball-player, did not respond when his name was called in the Po-lice Court yesterday to answer the charge of battery. The trial went on in his absence, and a red-headed octoroon was put on the witness-stand octoroon was put on the witness-stand to relate how Puente Pete had battered her.

She said Pete visited the resort where she holds forth, Wednesday night, and asked her to sing a song. She sat down at the piano and warbled a tune which evidently did not piease Pete. for he slapped her in the face. As this did not stop her singing, he tried to drown the music by emptying a glass of beer in her face. If he had poured it down her throat, it might have had the desired effect, but instead of that he dashed it in her face, and she still sang on. Pete was bound to change the tune, so he took the empty beer glass and struck her a violent blow over the eye, cutting a deep gash in her forehead and badly discoloring her face.

The injured eye was placed in evidence, and without further testimony the court found the defendant guilty as charged. Sentence will be pronounced today. to relate how Puente Pete had bat-

The attendance at the Chamber of Commerce every day is very large. The hall is always thronged with admiring tourists.

Usually when a farmer sends a donation of sweet potatoes to the Chamber of Commerce he sends but a single variety. But yesterday M. Frazier sent in a collection of four kinds grown on his ranch at Whittier. The lot comprised Jersey Reds, Queen of the South, Cuban yams, and a newly-developed variety—Pride of the West. About a year ago an Orange county rancher year ago an Orange county rancher dug up a hill of Jersey Reds, and found one sweet potato in the lot which was white instead of red. He planted the sport, and thus developed an entirely new variety, and a very fine one.

The Public Library. The Public Library.

The work of placing the titles and numbers of all the works of fiction in the Public Library in the Rudolph-Indexer is almost done. It was a big undertaking to arange a catalogue of over 15,000 books, so the librarians smile with delight at the thought that but little remains to be done. The indexers will probably be placed in the distributing room for the use of the public on next Monday. A list of recent magazine articles and newspaper accounts of Armenia, the customs of the Armenians, the state of affairs at present, the past history of the race, etc., has been posted on the library bulletin board. It will be an invaluable aid to the student of the Armenian situation.

DISTRIBUTION OF ILLATERATE IM-

The Immigration Restriction League is doing useful and excellent work in collecting and publishing statistics bearing upon the immigration problem. Mention was recently made in these columns of a bill which was prepared by the league (and which is now before Congress) designed to exclude illiterate immigrants from American soil. That this measure, or some measure not unlike it, will become a law during the present session seems not me interesting facts have recently been brought to light by agents of the every division of the Northern Pacific Immigration League in the course of their investigations relative to the distribution of illiterate immigrants to the various sections of the country. On December 13, 14 and 15, 1895 members of the Executive Committee of the ague examined about one thousand when the Union Pacific men were immigrants over 16 years of age on Ellis Island. The objects of the examination were to ascertain (1)) the truth of the immigrant's answer as to his ability to read and write; (2) the distinction, first, of the less desirable nationalities, and, secondly, of the illiterates: and (3) the groupings of the immigrants by the amount of money brought with them. The results obtained by these examinations are, it is characteristic of such immigration throughout the year.

Among those examined, the Hunga rian, Russian and German nationalities predominated in number. It was found that all the Germans and Bohenians could read and write, while the illiteracy of the other races represented was as follows: Fins, 10 per cent.; Russians 48: Hungarians 3614: Gallicians, 62; Croats, etc., 45; Syrians, 69. For purposes of comparison it should be remembered that the average of illiteracy for the British, Germans and Scandinavians is 2.3 per hundred.

As regards the destination of the il of the races whose illiteracy is very in relation to the Monroe doctrine. LOS ANGELES THEATER. So far as the operatic stage of today is concerned, Charles Gounod, the eminent French composer, was scarcely more than the creator of a single opera, but "Faust," reared upon the structure of Goethe's weird tragedy, established his capacity as a score-writer of surpassing ability. It gave him a meed of fame that will last as long as orchestras tune their strings or prima donnas grace the stage in dramas of melodious expression; and at least one of its airs, set to words of a rollicking bachannallan verse, will be sung in the small hours of the morning as long as roysterers put wine in their mouths to steal away their brains. Indeed, when the orchestra strikes up the chorused number in act three, the listener is very apt to have creep into his mind the line, "Oh, no, we'll never get drunk any more," and to forget for the moment that it is one of the most spirited bits in all the realms of grand opera.

FIELD'S AMBITION.

IT IS TO REMAIN A LITTLE LONGE

should Ill-health Force Him to Re sign His Mantle May Fall on Judge Ross - The Venerable Jurist's Remarkable Career.

WASHINGTON (D. C.,) Jan. 22,-Th rumor of the intended retirement of Justice Field of the Supreme Court is revived every few days, and the last one is that he will use his influence to have Judge Ross of Los Angeles succeed him. There is this much truth in it, that Justice Field is a warm friend of Justice Ross, but the venerable Justice has no immediate intention of retiring, frankly admitting, however, that if he should again betion of retiring, frankly admitting, however, that if he should again become as feeble as he was a year ago he will no longer perform duties as a justice, but will go to his home and enjoy the evening of a long life full of honor. That he has had the subject of retirement in his mind and has in times past discussed it, is true, but he still has an ambition, and so long as ambition remains in one of the Field family there will be indomitable will and perseverance to fulfill it. One of Justice Field's closest friends is Senator White, who states that nothing has been said about an immediate resignation. And yet, something may occur at any time to break the strong constitution of the venerable Jurist, and if it does, he will set aside his ambition because no longer able to perform his duties. Then, while he could not make it a condition of his retirement, he will use his influence, which would probably be paramount, in the interests of Judge Ross, or at least it is so stated by those who may well be supposed to know.

Justice Field will be 80 years old on the 4th day of next November, and until his illness of last year, looked twenty years younger than he was. With returning health he is fast recovering the vigor of youth. Mentally and physically he is far from being decrepit.

It has frequently been said that Lythe vigor of youth. Mentally and physically he is far from being decrepit.

It has frequently been said that Lyman Beecher was the father of more brains than any American in history. His family was larger, but it is doubtful if he can compare with David Dudley Field, Sr., the father of Justice Fleld, who, like Dr. Beecher, was a clergyman of high standing. The long years during which the younger David Dudley Field, brother of the Justice, stood at the head of the American bar, the never-fading monument he left, in the great codification of New York law, and the impetus given by him to his pet project to codify the common law, that great mass of undigested and often irreconcilable precedents, will make his influence felt throughout all time. The proof that a merchant can be great given by Cyrus W. Field, and the debt of gratitude the world owes him for the laying of the Atlantic cable; the eminent labors of Henry M. Field as a minister and scientist, and his contributions to the published thought of the age; the self-sacrificing missionary life-work of Emeline Field, and the remarkable history of Justice Field himself, would seems to accord to David Dudley Field, the father, the reputation that he seem circuits.

and the remarkable history of Justice Field himself, would seems to accord to David Dudley Field, the father, the reputation that has been given Dr. Lyman Beecher.

For the past generation, thirty-three years, Justice Field has been an honored member of the greatest tribunal in the world, having been appointed by the martyred President, who thought so highly of the integrity of the Supreme bench that he searched the country over for the two ablest lawyers in the United States when appointments were necessary. The choice was not actuated by political considerations, for both Justices Field and Davis were Democrats, and remained such. The ambition referred to is a noble one, to remain on the bench longer than any man has ever done, and it will take but a short time to accomplish it. There are but two longer records, one of Chief Justice Marshall, who served thirty-four years and five months, the other four years and five months, the other of Justice Story, who served thirty-three years and five months. In less than two years, Justice Field will have lowed his name to be presented as a candidate for the Presidency, when he received sixty-five votes on the first bal disputes.

In 1857, elected to the Supreme benchof California, he has been a jurist ever since, his every ambition satisfied, except his longing for life and health to be spared a year and a half that he may have served as long, and certainly not less wisely and well, as the two great early framers of American jurisprudence.

The Rev. W. B. Mattison of Owosso, Mich., tells a good story at his own expense. Last September he was called upon to marry a couple, the groom being 70 years of age and the bride much younger. At the conclusion of the ceremony the groom handed the minister $20. Several weeks later Mr. Mattison was informed that, owing to the excitement of the occasion, the aged bridegroom was somewhat rattled and had mistaken the $20 for $5, and demanded a rebate of $15. The reverend gentleman sent his check for the rerequired amount to correct the error, but this was not sufficient. It seems, in the old man's third venture, three months were all that was required to exhaust the glamour of matrimony, and life with him had become once more simply a matter of business. Consequently he demanded that the minister pay him interest on the $15. The request was immediately compiled with, and a second check was drawn for the sum of 15 cents, and when the voucher was returned a few days ago the minister caused it to be gramed, and it now hangs in his study.

The National Board of Trade Adopts Several Important Resolutions.

Several Important Resolutions.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The National Board of Trade at its closing session today by a unanimous rising vote directed that the president of the board send the following peace sentiment to the Associated Chambers of Commerce of London:

"National Board of Trade of the the United States, assembled in annual meeting at Washington, sends greetings to the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Great Britain, reciprocating all the friendly sentiments uttered by English commercial bodies and expresses the earnest wish that rocating all the friendly sentiments uttered by English commercial bodies and expresses the earnest wish that commerce and religion, representing the great progressive and civilizing forces of the world, may honorably avert a collision between English-speaking nations, who, more than any other, represent the sentiment of 'peace on earth, goodwill to men.'"

The Committee on Rallroad Transportation made a report, which was approved by the national board, deprecating all movements looking to the government ownership of railiway lines, but strenuously advocating wise, firm and continuous supervision over the operation and management of these great agencies in all matters affecting their relations with the public in the conduct of interstate commerce.

It was also resolved that the bonded indebtedness of the Pacific railroads to the government should be extended on the best terms practicable, and the passage of the Smith House bill, No. 3459, now pending in Congress was should at once pass a law making any person who had been a director, officer or employé of any corporation engaged in interstate commerce ineligible for appointment as assignee or receiver of such corporation.

Jules Simon, the distinguished French statesman, is in better health at 82 than for some years past. He enjoys his old age, and it is said that he becomes a better orator every year. Prof. Knackfuss, who executed Kaiser Wilhelm's allegorical cartoon, has been appointed director of the Berlin National Museum, in succession to Dr. Jordan to Dr. Jordan.

More persons have climbed the Alps this winter than ever before in the season of snow and ice. Prof. Fischer's recent ascent of the Finsterarhorn was the first winter ascent of that mountain ever made.

In German-American social circles he is noted for his overflowing good humor and high spirits. Ex-Senator Henry Laurens Dawes still takes a vital interest in the Indian question, and frequently goes out west on behalf of the nation's wards. He makes his home in Pittsfield, Mass., in a fine, old-fashioned house, which was one of the first dwellings erected in the town.

Mr. Gladstone has a personal connection with British Gutana, as his family fortune was made there. His father owned a great sugar estate at Vreeden Hoop, in Demerara, and was a large slave owner. One of the Grand Old Man's first speeches in Parliament was a defense of West Indian slavery, made just before the passage of the act abolishing slavery in 1833, He was Under Secretary for the colonies when Schomburg was laying out his line.

Among the promenaders on Broadway the other day was Austin Bidwell, the American who forged bills of exchange on the bank of England and thereby got $5,000,000 in 1873. Bidwell received a life sentence for his crime, but was released in 1893, after having served twenty years. In talking about the deed, Bidwell, who is now leading a "square" life, said that he was brought up by a religious mother, who, from the time he reached the age of reason until his sixteenth year, read to him daily a page or two from Baxter's "Saint's Rest." At 16 he entered the office of a broker on Wall street, and before he had reached the age of 25 worked the forgery game that sent him to Chatham prison. His two confederates, Noyes and McDonald, were released later, and are with him in business.

Ostrich vs. Bicycle.

The Cape Times says that a peculiar experience befell a local cyclist, Donald Menzies, recently. He was riding along the main road from Cape Town to Somerset, West Strand, when an ostrich, attracted apparently by what was, in its eyes, a novel vehicle, commenced to waitz around the bicycle. After a few preliminary antics, the bird took it into its head to pace Mr. Menzies, and so long as it abstained from using its wings the cyclist and the ostrich managed a dead heat. However, after covering about half a mile in this way, the ostrich utilized its stumpy wings as sails, and spurted away at a record-breaking pace, leaving the cyclist far behind. After that the bird troubled Mr. Menzies no more. The Cape Times says that a peculiar xperience befell a local cyclist, Donald

Some of the wholesale merchants on Los Angeles street who are so anxious to keep the sidewalks cleared of idle men, do not seem to consider the in-convenience they themselves cause pedestrians by keeping the sidewalks blockaded with bales of merchandise, and other obstacles ranging in size from egg-cases to hay-presses.

The sale of through tickets from San Francisco to Santa Barbara and Lom-poc, via the Southern Pacific's new Coast line, marks the dawn of another of progress in the channel and county. Part of the journey will have to be made by stage, but the new arrangement will prove a great convenience to persons touring the Coast counties, whether on business or pleasure bent.

The report, in another column, of how a Los Angeles man received a fat legacy for his kind attentions to a sick man, from Boston, may suggest a new way of profiting by the invalids who come from the East. Kindness to those unfortunates may sometimes bring about some substantial reward in this world, but to a great many people it is too slow a way to make money.

"An eastern visitor" writes from Pasadena to The Times complaining of ex-tortion practiced by boarding-house keepers there as well as in Los Angeles foundation, for with the great number of hotels, boarding-houses and restau-rants hereabout, one can easily find the kind of a place that suits his taste and purse. There are many places in this city and in Pasadena where visitors can live well and cheaply.

The liquor dealers of Ventura have pledged themselves to respect the 11 o'clock closing ordinance. A. Bullilli, one of their number, was arrested for Before trial, the leading saloon mer went before the Mayor, pleading that their man was a foreigner, and ignorant of the law, and that there was no intention on his part of violating it,

Mr. Van Dyke decides in accordance with this view of the case, the way lies open for the immediate deportation of the whole 206 actors who were brought to Atlanta.

If the advices from Tiburon Island are correct, think of the possible fate escaped by Col. John Bradbury and party in postponing their evangelistic excursion to the land of the terrible Ceris Indians. The dispatches state that six tough, hardy frontiersmenmen inured to the dangers of drouth, heat and ravages, have been overpowered by the blood-thirsty Ceris, killed and, to make matters more horrible, their breathless bodies eaten. This is truly terrible. That the bones of Col. Bradbury are not now carved into neck laces and are adorning the necks of the dusky belles of the Ceris, is a matter for congratulation by all of the Colonel's fellow-citizens. In the matter of bones the Ceris maidens have not yet learned to discriminate between trose of a real live colonel and the bones of a horny-handed mining prospector. Col. Bradbury has escaped a terrible fate.

The violet luncheon given yesterday by Mrs. John J. Akin, at her home on West Beacon street, for two charming brides, Mrs. James G. Warren of Cleveland and Mrs. C. C. Parker, was one of the prettiest affairs of the winter. The table decorations, and the menu, as far as possible, were violet in color. Daylight was excluded, and in color. was a large balf of English violets, in the midst of a wreathing of smilax.
The violets and maidenhair were scattered over the cloth, and at each cover, as a souvenir, was a large bunch of the fragrant flowers and ferns, fastened with a silver stickpin in the form of a violet. The place cards were decorated in water-colors, with violets, and attached to each with green satin xibbons, was a tiny pencil to be used in writing the poem on violets, which each guest was expected to compose. The first prize poem was written by Mrs. Prince, who was rewarded with a dainty plaque, painted in violets, and the second prize, a smaller plaque, was won by Mrs. Braly. A delicious menu was served, for which Christopher catered. Mrs. Akin was charming in a white silk gown, the collar of violets, and the sleeves caught up with the same flower. The guests were Mmes. J. G. Warren, C. C. Parker, Arthur Hughes Braly, H. G. Bundrum, Jack Jevne, Boyle Workman,

The rooms were decorated with white carnations, violets and exceedingly graceful designs in smilax. The refreshments were served at small violet-decorated tables. Much amusement was created by the efforts of the guests to discover the names of books from charmingly painted water color sketches upon cards. Miss Willis recited several selections very charmingly. The members of the board of managers are as follows: Mmss. C. E. Day, E. P. Johnson, Felix C. Howes, J. S. Slauson, C.N. Flint, Charles Prager, O. T. Johnson, Daniel Innes, T. D. Stimson, J. E. FAREWELL RECEPTION. The Y, W, C.A. rooms on North Spring street were filled to overflowing last evening, when the board of managers evening, when the board of managers of the association gave a farewell reception to Miss Clara Yale Morse, the much-loved general secretary, who will leave Monday for Chicago, to become the general secretary of the Chicago West End Y.W.C.A., with which the training school is connected. Miss Morse, who was surrounded during the evening by her many friends, received them in her own charming way, with always a kindly, gracious word for each. She has won countless friends during her stay here, who deeply deplore her departure for another field. During the evening the Venetian Ladies' Orchestra rendered selections, Miss Elizabeth Kimball and Miss Stoneman sang solos, and Mmes.

The table was prettily decorated with pink carnations, maidenhair ferns and smilax, and about the walls were festooned peppers and smilax. The reception-rooms were artistically decorated with flowers, and the hall was lighted with Japanese lanterns.

Resolutions were drawn up by the board of managers and presented to Miss Morse. They were couched in the most complimentary terms, and were deeply appreciative of her invaluable services in the organization, in bringing it to its present successful condition, and of the great influence of her life, which has been most helpful to the members, and oftentimes an inthe members, and oftentimes an in-spiration to them, RECEPTION AT UNITY CHURCH.

A Thrilling Runaway.

A Thrilling Runaway.

A horse attached to a buggy yesterday made a run that quite eclipsed the "mystic's" blind-folded drives for thrilling incidents and hairbreadth escapes. The animal got away from ts owner at First and Los Angeles streets, ran west on First to Broadway, striking a popcorn stand at First and Spring, completely demolished it; turned down Broadway to Second, thence east to Main and down Main, where he was lost to view. All along the route men attempted to stop the runaway and in front of the Police Station half a dozen officers made a try, but all to no purpose. The buggy was considerably damaged by striking the popcorn stand and curbs in turning corners, but was not upset. That it avoided striking cable and electric cars, with which the route was lined, is a miracle.

Park Superintendent Meserye and His Peculiar Practices.

A Public Official Who Operates Private Nursery.

The Stock-assessment Case on Trial Again—A Fight Over Destruction of Property-Another Coupon-Ticket Suit.

The City Hall is alive with stories of peculiar conduct on the part of Park Superintendent Meserve, who is accused of building up his private business at the expense of the city's. His case is expected to come before the Park Commissioners today. The Sewer Committee yesterday recommended that the remonstrance made to the Council against the continuance of the carpet-beating industry in Los Angeles council against the continuance of the carpet-beating industry in Los Angeles be upheld, and the petition of the carpet-beater in question for permission to carry on his business with improved machinery, be denied, City Attorney Dunn is preparing a report to the Council in the matter of collecting money due the city from yarious street money due the city from various street money due the city from various street commissioners.

At the Courthouse yesterday the case of the Stockton Harvester and Agricultural Works vs. Hauser, was on trial again before Judge Shaw. The Jefferson Democratic Club will be allowed to appeal from the judgment given against it in the lower court. Another suit was filed which brings up afresh the old question of taking up scalped tickets, and throwing the holder off the train.

AT THE CITY HALL.

A THRIFTY OFFICIAL.

Superintendent Meserve and

Charges of a serious nature are pending against E. R. Meserve, Superintendent of Parks, and the Board of Park Commissioners will meet in spe ession this morning to take ac cial session this morning to take ac-tion upon them.

Meserve is accused of operating a private nursery of his own, and manip-ulating the floral supplies of the park department to his own advantage, and the building up of the aforesaid private

The ground of the accusation is found in a circumstance of recent occurrence. In the month of December, 1895, a large consignment of carnations from the Tejunga Valley was brought to this city, and by Meserve's permission placed in the East Side Park. They were not ordered for the city or by the city. They were the property of private persons. About 400 of these flowers were kept at the park, placed in flower-pots belonging to the city, and cared for by men in the employ of, and paid by the city.

They are now the property of Park Superintendent Meserve, and at the present time are reposing in Meserve's private nursery, each plant in a flower-pot belonging to the park department. These facts, with others, were developed at a secret meeting of the Park Commissioners held last Saturday evening in the private office of Mayor Rader, and came out in the examination of the park foreman, to the thorough surprise of the commissioners, who had called the meeting with an expectation of hearing testimony favorable to Meserve, instead of the contrary.

Meserve admitted the fact that car-The ground of the accusation is foun who had called the meeting with an expectation of hearing testimony favorable to Meserve, instead of the contrary.

Meserve admitted the fact that carnations in large quantities had been grown at the East Side Park, at the expense of the city, and that he was now the proprietor of the flowers, which he has in the city's flower-pots at his nursery at Highland Park, he recently annexed suburb of this city.

His explanation of the affair to the commissioners, after the damaging facts had come out in the testimony of his men, was that a florist at the park, D. L. Woods, had bought the carnations and he (Meserve) desiring to assist Woods in his little "spec," allowed the florist to place them in the park and have them cared for at the city's expense. When the flowers came to a respectable growth, Meserve bought them of Woods and removed them to his private nursery, but neglected to transfer them to his private flower pots. He assured the commissioners, however, that he would be willing to return the pots at any time they were needed, or at once if they were demanded of him.

Woods is now the foreman of the East Side Park. He was given the position in December, 1895, the same month that the carnations were placed in the park. When questioned last evening regarding his connection with the scandal, he declined to make a statement of his case, or answer any queries regarding the matter. He will, in all probability, have a written defense of his action before the commissioners this morning.

Meserve went into the nursery business in December, 1895, forming a partnership with C. G. Packard, who had an establishment on South Broadway, as well as in Highland Park, Before making this move, Meserve had struggled to secure an increase of salary, which was unsuccessful. Members of the Park Commission allege that since his private venture was undertaken, Meserye has steadily neglected the business of the city, and the testimony for the park commission allege that since his private venture was undertaken, Meserye has steadily neg Meserye has steadily neglected the business of the city, and the testimony of the foremen, taken at the meeting of Saturday, corroborated this charge.

Realizing the desperate character of the situation, Meserve has declared that, sooner than resign his position as superintendent, which has been intimated to him would be a wise course to pursue, he will fight the charges to the end, claiming that he has an abundance of cards "up his sleeve," which he can produce at the proper time, and which will completely clear him of suspected wrong-doing, and establish his perfect probity.

Political factions are interested in the affair, and strong pressure is being brought to bear on the Mayor and commissioners to reconsider their expressed determination of probing the charges against Meserve to the bottom.

The first chapter in what promises to be a more than interesting story will be heard this morning when the Mayor calls the Board of Park Commissioners to order and brings up the question of the Park Superintendent's past record as a public official.

NEEDS ANOTHER MAN.

Street Superintendent Howard will present the following communication to the Council next Monday:

To the Honorable City Council: By your action in reducing the froce of the street department it becomes necessary to dispense with two inspectors hitherto used to examine all connechit tions with our main sewers, to ascertain if the connections were properly made. It often occurs that by different measurements, the "Ys" intended for these laterals are not properly located, or perhaps do not exist, which renders it necessary for a joint of pipe to be removed from the main sewer and a "Y" joint substituted. Unless a careful inspection is made of this work, the main sewer is liable to be left in anything but a sanitary condition. I would therefore suggest to your honorable body that a competent sewer man be appointed to attend to each of these cases and perform the work himself, so irresponsible parties will not be permitted to tamper with so important and expensive an improvement as our main sewers.

AGAINST CARPET BEATERS.

Complaints Concrning Them Upheld

A remonstrance against the continu-ance of carpet beating in the city of Los Angeles was heard by the Council last Monday, and the matter referred to the Sewer Committee.

The committee yesterday prepared the following recommendataion to the Council in the matter: end that petition from W.

"In accordance with the recommendation of the Health Officer, we recommend that the City Engineer be directed to prepare and present the necessary ordinance of intention for the construction of a sewer on Jackson street from Wilmington street to the east line of lot 4, of the Alvarado street tract."

Boyle Heights Police Station.

About the middle of December, 1895, the City Council leased a building on Boyle Heights for police purposes. The rent of the building for four months, amounting to $60, was paid in advance. An equal amount was spent in repairing the building. Two special officers were elected by the Police Commission to take charge of the branch jail, at a salary of $75 each a month. Some of the Councilmen have been making inquiries of late about this branch jail, and were surprised to learn that it has never been used, although the special officers elected have continued to draw their pay, and the rent of the building has gone steadily on. An explanation of the affair will be asked by the Council at its next session. Boyle Heights Police Station.

That official has been working on the matter for some time, and will submit a report of his labors to the Council next Monday. The City Attorney has examined the Auditor's statement of the case very thoroughly, and has ascertained the amount each street commissioner should, or could legally, be compelled to return to the city. He will embody the result of his examination in the report, which will be submitted to the Council at its next session.

RIVAL COOKS,

Quarrel Settled with Sticks of Stove-

A tale of woe was told in broken French yesterday before Justice Young by André Louis, who at present acts as cook in the little restaurant kept by Maria Fournais. Louis displaced a for-mer wielder of the saucepan and skillet named Louis Costel, who vowed vennamed Louis Costel, who vowed vengeance upon his successful rival. In pursuance of this laudable design, Costel and another man entered the restaurant one day, armed with sticks of stovewood, and pounded up the new cook so comfortably that he had to be taken to the County Hospital, where he remained for eight days. After he had recovered sufficiently to be out again, he sought redress in law, Judge Young took the case under advisement until today.

PULLED OFF THE KITCHEN.

A Lively Fight Over Destruction of

A Lively Fight Over Destruction of Property.

Judge McKinley's court was the scene of an animated contention yesterday, during the trial of the suit brought by D. F. and Mrs. Walsh, against C. T. Miller to recover $5000 damages for alleged destruction of property. The two contending parties owned lots 18 and 19 of the Huber tract, and the house owned by Mr. and Mrs. Walsh was on the extreme edge of their lot, with the kitchen and cornice projecting over into Miller's property.

In due time, Miller also built a house, which came plumply up against his line. As the edifice rose in the air, the projections on the Walsh mansion were in the way, so Miller removed them. Mrs. Walsh awoke one fine morning to find her husband and Miller exchanging "great big oaths" from the wantage-ground of their respective roofs. In spite of this opening of hostillites, Miller went serenely on and removed the little cupboard and that part of the kitchen which trespassed on his territory, also tearing down the cornice and tin gutter from the roof.

The testimony was particularly spicy, especially Mrs. Walsh's part of it, for she fairly drowned the court in a flood of words which would not be stanched, as she related her tale of woe and wrongs. Another woman took the opposite course, and flatly refused to testify at all, and altogther the scene was such as to keep the balliff busy in maintaining order in the courtroom.

The case will be continued today.

COUPON-TICKET SUIT.

The Vexed Question Again Brought Before the Court.

Another traveler who came to grie rough traveling upon a scalped ticket is John Kaar, who yesterday filed a suit against the Southern Pacific Com-pany to recover $10,000 damages and $60.30, the price of a scalped ticket of which he was forcibly relieved by Con-ductor Jenicke, just outside of San Fer-The ticket was originally issued by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, to S. Shettel, and was good for one first-class passage from Princeton, Ill., to Los Angeles and return. It was stamped at Los Angeles on November 19, 1895, and was after-ward sold to Kaar, who essayed to use it on January 10. The ticket was punched by the conductor, but was afterward confiscated by James Dowafterward confiscated by James Dow-ling, the railroad company's "spotter." Kaar offered to pay fare to the extent of $1.75, on condition that the ticket was returned to him, but the conductor, after greatly disturbing the plaintiff's peace of mind by his loud, insolent and abusive language, pitched him off the train into the wayside dust to the tune of $10,000.

TERM TRIAL JURORS.

Those Who Will Serve in Depart.

The new term-trial jury was paneled yesterday in Department Six. Following is the list of new jurors: David Baylis, Alhambra; D. R. Browning, Boyle avenue, city; W. T. Clapp, Pasadena; Charles A. Brought His Tools Along

John Richter, a German baker of convivial habits, was brought before the bar of justice—Justice Young—yesterday to explain certain energetic attempts to make mincemeat of the person of W. J. Boyle, an employe of the rolling mills, against whom Mr. Richter had developed a large and healthy grudge. As plaintiff's exhibits there appeared a formidable collection of hardware. A long butcher's knife, a cleaver, an ax and a battered old razor, the appearance of which fully bore out the statement of the defendant that he used it for cutting bread. In addition to this somewhat unique use, he had evidently employed it, in conjunction with the other weapons, in an attempt to cut up Mr. Boyle, so the sangulnary baker was held to answer for assault with a deadly weapon in the sum of $1000. the bar of justice-Justice Young-yes

SUPREME COURT.

FRIDAY MORNING, JANUARY 31, 1896.

John Burt Securely Sented at the The Supreme Court yesterday handed down a decision in the case of William H. Carlson vs. John P. Burt. This decision settles a point of law never before authoritively passed upon. eforth a defeated candidate mus file a complaint asking for a contest within forty days from the time the election board actually commences the

The decision is as follows: This case is a contest for the office of Assessor of San Diego county, and the on demurrer to the complaint. The court held that it had no jurisdiction because the complaint—or written statement, as it was termed—was not filed with the County Clerk within forty days after the return day of the election, as required by section 1115 of the Code of Civil procedure.

the Code of Civil procedure.

The complaint showed that the election was held on Tuesday, November 6, 1894, "that the respective boards of election of the several precincts of said county on or before Monday succeeding the said Tuesday made their returns to the Board of Supervisors of said county of San Diego of the votes cast at the said general election, and that upon said Monday said Board of Supervisors met, and finding that all of the returns in the several precincts in which said election was held had been duly and properly received, they thereupon proceeded to canvass the returns."

turns."

It is also averred that on November 19, 1894, the board caused to be entered in the record of said board a statement which purported to show the various matters required by section 1282 of the Polifical Code, ani that thereupon the board declared John P. Burt elected Assessor of San Diego county.

thereupon the board declared John P. Burt elected Assessor of San Diego county.

The complaint was filed December 23, 1894, the fortieth day after the cutry was made in the records of the board declaring Burt elected, and the forty-sixth day after the day on which it is averred that the board proceeded to canvass the votes. If the return day is the day upon which the result of the canvass is declared, then this contest was inaugurated in time. On the other hand, if the return day is the day upon which the returns being all in are produced before the board, which then proceeds to canvass them, the statement was filed too late, and the court properly refused to entertain the cause.

Section 1115, Civil Code Procedure, provides that "When an elector contests the right of any person declared elected to such office he must, within forty days after the return day of such election, file with the County Clerk a written statement, etc." The codes do not in any other place speak of any return day, but several sections of the Political Code direct the precinct officers to transmit to the County Clerk certain matters pertaining to the election.

The board is directed to meet on the first Monday after the election to canvass the returns. If the returns have not all been received the canvass must be postponed from day to day until all the returns have been received or until six postponements may be day nutil all the returns have been received or until six postponements may be day until all the returns and estimating the votes (1278, 1280, 1281, Pol. C.)

The clerk of 'the heart' is an and the canvass and the made by opening the returns and estimating the votes (1278, 1280, 1281, Pol. C.)

But it would seem that any return is timely which is recorded before the board commences the canvass. Naturally, then, the return day would be the first Monday after the election, with authority in the board to adjourn return day six times from day to day, if all returns have not been received.

Appellant argues that this construction may deprive an elector of the right to contest altogether, as the board may not declare the result until forty days after the canvass begins. Unquestionably the argument is entitled to great weight, and if any reasonable construction can be given to the law which would not result in nullifying the law as applied to a possible case, such construction should be given rather than a construction which would have that effect. But this right to contest is not given to enable a candidate test is not given to enable a candidate to vindicate his rights, but to any electo vindicate his rights, but to any elec-tor. Public policy repuires that it should be inaugurated at once. If commenced within forty days after the commencement of a canvass, it will be before the commencement of the term of the person declared elected. If de-layed much longer, it will be after the commencement of the next term of of-fice.

To contest the right to an office in this mode is not a natural right, but one given by statute. The phrase "return day" refers to the election returns and to some day fixed by reference to something done in regard to the returns. If it had been intended that the time should run from the day on which the person was declared elected, it was easy to say so, and the very language required was in the precise sentence in which the limitation was made. How natural it would have been to say that a contest as to the right of a person "declared elected" shall be commenced within forty days after he has been so declared elected, instead of changing the expression, making it read "for the return day of the election." There is nothing in the expression used which naturally refers to the day on which the person whose right is contested was declared elected.

To the suggestion that the board may take more than forty days to canvass the votes, it may be said that it may be possible, but it is quite improbable. If it should take much more than forty days, the vote might not be canvassed until the term for which the officers are to be elected will begin. Such a contingency was not anticipated, and can rarely happen, except through a crimmal intent. The presumption is that in fixing the election at a certain period for the commencement of a contest, the Legislature has taken all these things into consideration, and has concluded that the period fixed will always prove sufficient, and I believe that in practice it always has.

It must be held, then, that the return days is the day on which the person which the commencement of a contest, and it was to be cleated that the period fixed will always prove sufficient, and I believe that in practice it always has.

it always has.

It must be held, then, that the return day is the day on which the board actually commences the canvass; or, rather, the day on which, under the law, they ought to do so.

It follows, then, that the contest was commenced too late, and the judgment is affirmed.

HELLO! CENTRAL.

Subscribers are not Kicking Over The Times is in receipt of a com-munication from J. I. Saoin, president and general manager of the Telephone Company, in which he complains of an item in the Issue of January 25, of this paper, which commences:

"There is much kicking among the people who use telephones at the complicated improvements recently introduced by the company." Mr. Sabin to explain that the establishgoes on to explain that the establish-ment of party lines, that is, several subscribers on one pair of wires, was made in compliance with the demand for reduced rates, and the necessity of dividing and subdividing the names and positions of the wires, in order to keep pace with the growth of the city.
The classification of subscribers into "Black." "Red," "Alta," etc., Mr. Sabin avers is much simpler than the old method of designating the number of bells, in case where there is more han one station on a line.

An intimation that the Los Angeles management feared a "row," owing to the change in the rules, caused Mr Sabin to give peremptory orders that no switches were to be made, under no switches were to be made, under any consideration, unless the full number was given, including the name in front of the number. This order was given that no subscriber might suffer from delay caused by the operator be-ing obliged to hold unnecessary con-ing obliged to hold unnecessary conversation with another subscriber who failed to comply with the rules.

Mr. Sabin assures the public that it is his object to give first-class service at as low rates as possible, and that all is his object to give first-class service at as low rates as possible, and that all the company asks the subscribers to do is: "Take the telephone off the hook and place it to his ear. Give the full number of the subscriber wanted. Hang up the telephone when he gets through." In making these rules, Mr. Sabin respectfully submits that the company is not asking too much. The rules are simple and sensible company is not asking too much. The rules are simple and sensible the telephoning public. It is not of the rules, nor of the "complicated improvements" that the Los Angeles public complains, it is of the negligence, insolence and inefficeiency of the employés at the central office, and on this score the "kick" is energetic and universal.

With the best intentions in the world, the hapless subscriber, perhaps hurried by some important and urgent business, may take his telephone off the hook, place it to his ear, give the full number wanted, and then wait until death comes to his release. Special request is made to the subscriber, not till death comes to his release. Special request is made to the subscriber "not to shake the hook," but in the new telephones there is no other way of arousing Central, who seems to be either engaged in an absorbing flirtation, or engaged in an absorbing filtration, or indulging in a refreshing slumber. The busy and impatient subscriber, after waiting long enough for a dozen connections to be made, has no recourse but to "shake the hook." The hook is accordingly shaken with some energy, and, if Central happens to be in an amiable mood, a languid voice drawls out, "Number?"

The canvass shall be made by opening the returns and estimating the votes (1278, 1280, 1281, Pol. C.)

The clerk of the board is required as soon as the result is declared to enter on the records a statement similar to that which the complaint shows the board caused to be entered on the 19th. (1282 Pol. C.)

In other sections the election returns are mentioned, so that there can be no doubt as to the meaning of the phrase "election returns." But what is the return day of an election?

The phrase "return day" has been long a familiar phrase in legal practice. Blackstone says, vol. III, 277, that they are called days in banc; that is, days of appearance in the court of common bench. They were stated days in the termon which writs were resumable. These were the original writs by which suits were commenced. If the defendant did not then appear and submit to the jurisdiction, process was issued to compel him to do so. In analogy the last day on which any process can be returned is called return day, or, in case of an order to show cause, the day of the hearing.

The statute fixes no precise day in which election returns must be made. They should be sent to the clerk at once.

But it would seam that any return courts of the public offices are the first would seam that any entire.

A ROUGH VOYAGE.

The Experience of a Steamer from

The steel-turret steamer Progressist Capt. Pinkham, which is discharging coal at Port Los Angeles, has had a rough time since she left Comax. B. C., last Sunday week. When started there was a heavy gale, and so she staid for a time in Bayne's Sound, about Comax. Soon after she made the start her main steam-pipe commenced to leak, and the steamer sailed into Plumper Passage to anchor for the night. Monday morning, the gale continuing, she went into Esquimault for shelter and to repair the pipe. Tuesday noon, the repairs being completed, she continued her voyage with all going well till she got off Cape Flattery, after which she encountered a heavy southeast gale for about twelve hours. The gale shifted to the southeast and increased in violence. It continued till the steamer was off Point Concepcion, when there was thunder, lightning and a very heavy rain, the rain continuing till her arrival at Port Los Angeles last Monday. During an unusually heavy sea off Cape Flattery, she dived in such a way as to stave in the hood over the forecastle head.

In coming alongside the big wharf after her arrival at Port Los Angeles, she broke two wire hausers, and one six-inch hawser. The second day she carried away her rouse-chocks, and on Wednesday night her chain cable, which was attached to the wharf, parted. The cable was one of the strength being equal to a breaking strain of about eighty tons. Robert Grijalva is an aged and worthy Mexican out at Glendale, whose daughter had departed from the customs of her race sufficiently to marry a citizen of Scotch descent named John McAteer. About six months ago, McAteer wanted to buy a wagon and a team of horses, but could not raise the ready money. He offered to give promissory notes for the amount, and asked his father-in-law to lend his indersement.

This, Grijalva prudently declined to do, but compromised the matter by buying the team in his own name, and loaning it to McAteer, who was to have the privilege of buying it as soon as he was able, and who gave his notes to the old man instead of to the original owner of the team.

The first of these notes came due on January 15, but McAteer was unable to pay. Grijalva grew impatient, and, taking his two sons with him, went to McAteer's place to confiscate the team. McAteer objected, saying that he was using it, but would give it up in a few days, after he had finished with it. This seemed like trifling to Grijalva, who insisted upon taking the team at once. McAteer, knowing it to be safely padlocked in the barn, told his father-in-law to go ahead and take it, and strolled into the house. told his father-in-law to go ahead and take it, and strolled into the house. Grijalva drew a long knife, and rushed at McAteer, who fired, the bullet passing through the old man's clothing. At this, the sons of Grijalva dashed into the fight, one of them knocking McAteer down. He fell with the revolver under him, and in the struggle that ensued, it went off, wounding young Grijalva in the hand. Each side wanted a complaint against the other, but neither would swear to it, on account of Mrs. McAteer. At last, all were arrested, and brought before Justice McArthur, of Glendale. The matter went over until yesterday, when it was tried, ending in the discharge of old Grijalva from the accusation of assault with a deadly weapon, and the dismissal of the case against the two boys for battery. McAteer is the only one left dissatisfied, and he announces his intention of taking the case over to San Gabriel, in order that he may get justice.

PRETTY CASH LEGACY. Boston in Time of Need and Was Rewarded for His Attentions-A

Michael Foley, who has been at work for the Puente Oil Company and more recently employed in the extension of the Puente oil pipes to Chino, is no doubt a believer in every proverb of Franklin and all the French philoso phers as to the market value there is in kindness and politeness in this world, and everyone who reads these lines will undoubtedly agree that he has been right royally rewarded for his at-tention and courtesy to a stranger several years ago.

tention and courtesy to a stranger several years ago.

In the fall of 1890 Michael Foley came to California. Among the passengers in the same Santa Fé train that brought him was an elderly man, who was coming to this locality for his health. He was taken very ill on the cars and was confined to his berth. The man was William Bridgeman, and he was traveling alone. Foley took pity on the invalid and, although a stranger, he went into the same car with the sick man. He got his meals for him at the stations, got books and newspapers for him, dressed him in the morning and helped him to bed, at night. There was no money consideration the morning and helped him to bed at night. There was no money consideration for all this attention of one stranger for another, and Foley never thought of there being. He merely had sympathy for an agreeable and grateful fellow-traveler in pain and distress, and he ministered to him as best he knew how.

When 'the train reached Los Angeles, Foley helped Mr. Bridgeman to a carriage and together they went to a hotel. The rate to Lompoc will be $10.90, and to Santa Barbara $15, the same as the present all-rail rate via Saugus. The and to Santa Barbara $15, the same as the present all-rail rate via Saugus. The new route is partly by rail and partly by stage.

The coast line, upon which work h by stage.

The coast line, upon which work is being pushed, is now completed to a point eleven miles south of Guadalupe, and at this place a new station has been established, which is called Someo. It is fifteen miles from Someo to Lompoc, and over this road a line of stages has been put on which will connect with the daily trains and carry passengers right through without stop. The railroad itself will not be built into Lompoc, or, rather, Lompoc is not on the direct line of the road as surveyed. That line crosses the Santa Ynez River near its mouth, eight miles closer to the coast than Lompoc, following around the jutiting of Point Concepcion, and the point of crossing the river will be known as Lompoc Junction. From there, if the rights-of-way are secured, a branch will be built into Lompoc.

There is still some heavy grading and tunneling to be done on the coast line, but the purpose to push the work is evident, and by next fall it is probable passengers will be carried through to Los Angeles on the coast line, direct from Third and Townsend streets, and will thereby save several hours' time on the trip.

The Greatest Art is Spontaneous.

(Miss S. T. Prideaux, in the February Scribner's:) Only when the instinctive moment has given way to the self-conscious attitude has the need arisen for canons of taste and for analysis of the previous products of spontaneity. Unhappily the converse is also true. When the mind is exercised upon the vital questions of art—what may be its utterances, what modes of expression are legitimate, and the like, it is a sign sure and unfailing that the fullest and freest activity, the most spontaneous inspiration is for the time in abeyance.

the Science of Profitably Subdivid-ing Property—Good Sale on Grand Avenue—San Diego's Back Country-Building.

The market has not been characterized by any striking features during the past week. Transactions are at pres-ent chiefly confined to residence property. From day to day a number of sales are made, ranging in value from a $300-lot to a $10,000 house and lot.
BUYING FOR HOMES.

A large proportion of the sales that are made newadays are to recent arrivals from the East, who are looking for homes. The fact is that prices of property in the more popular residence sections of the city have touched a point where they do not leave very much margin for speculation during the coming year. It is not said that these prices are extravagant, but there is not the prospect of the same percentage of increase in value within a few months that induced many of our own people to, buy property when real estate began to pick up two or three years ago. Owners who have extra choice property for sale at a full figure have to depend chiefly on new arrivals from the East, who are charmed with our climate and surroundings, and to waom a few thousand douars, more or less, does not make much difference, provided they get just what they want. large proportion of the sales that

An instance of this was furnished a few days ago, when J. M. Menliee soid his place on Grand avenue, near Adams, to E. A. Sugs of Chicago, for $10,000 cash. The lot is 60x180 feet. The house is a first-class one, and the complete furniture goes with it. But allowing $5000 for the improvements, the price is still over $50 a foot, certainly a most satisfactory one to the seller.

Apropos of Grand avenue there is no doubt that this fine thoroughfare, which has been somewhat neglected during the past year, will come to the front in good shape from now on. The recent sale of a corner at Grand avenue and Seventh street for $200 a front foot shows that Grand avenue is beginning to figure as a probable business thoroughfare in the near future. A REMARKABLE SALE.

The manner in which local buyers are ready to pick up anything that appears to be a little below the market price was well shown on Monday. The Orangedale tract, on Central avenue, which has been advertised in The Times for several weeks, was placed on the market on that day at private sale, and in spite of the heavy rain no less than thirty-nine lots were disposed of, out of the hundred in the tract. The buyers were mostly Los Angeles people, who bought for homes, although several purchass, swere made by parties who will hold for an advance in price, that has taken place in several other subdivisions in that neighborhood. Mr. Edwards of the Bankers' Alliance, bought seven lots on Adams street, paying therefor '$4200. He will build an $5000- Bouse on the lite. Several other buyers are getting plans out for houses, while some lumber is on the ground, and it is expected that half the buyers will build within three months. Since Monday thirteen lots were sold, making a total of fifty-two. The agents expect to have disposed of seventy-five lots by Saturday. A new list of prices of lots showing an advance of $100 each has already been prepared, and will go into effect on February 1. Forty teams are now at work grading the streets, which will be put in first-class condition. Thus another addition is made to the rapidly-growing Central avenue section, which two years ago was orchard and-vineyard, and in two years mors promises to be one of the most thickly settled sections of the city.

The success which has attended the subdivision of this and other tracts recently placed on the market in the same section is largely due to the fact that rices have in each case been niaced.

subdivision of this and other tracts re-cently placed on the market in the same section is largely due to the fact that prices have in each case been placed a trifle below the market value, so as to give buyers a chance to make something. In other words, the owners have not tried to "hog" every-thing themselves. OPENINGS FOR CAPITAL

OPENINGS FOR CAPITAL.

In this connection, attention should be called to the profitable opportunities which exist for the investment of capital in subdividing land on the outskirts of Los Asseles, whenever the enterprise is conducted in a judicious and businesslike; manner. It is a well-known fact that there is no safer or more profitable investment for capital than the purchasing of property on the outskirts of a growing city, in the direction of its growth. Large fortunes have been capital in the manner in all the great cities of the United States. That Los Angeles is destined to continue its growth during the next few years there can be little doubt. Every indication points to the probability that from now on until the 200,000 mark is reached the growth of the city will be phenomenally rapid. With increase in population comes an increased demand for residence lots, which is greater in proportion here than in most cities, because our people do not run so much to flats and tenement, the mand for residence than in most cities, because our people do not run so much to flats and tenements, the mild climate encouraging a demand for plenty of elbow room. These natural conditions will not change with the growth of the city, so that a population of 200,000 in Los Angeles will need as much ground to live on as a population of 500,000 in the East. THE ART OF SUBDIVIDING.

THE ART OF SUBDIVIDING.

The subdividing of land in the suburbs of a city is a science which must be studied carefully, if a person expects to make money by it. During the boom the science of subdivision consisted in planting out some stakes, having some attractive lithographs printed, taking a page for a week in a daily paper, hiring a brass band, spreading a free lunch and holding an auction sale. These times have passed away, and let us hope it will be a long time before they return.

The subdivider must now follow quite a different plan. He has to deal with people who know about what they want, and who are not to be led astray by florid descriptions. Having selected an eligibly located site, the successful divider is only at the beginning of his task. A large amount of money will have to be expended in grading streets, constructing sidewaiss—not narrow little strips, but good wide footpains, with solid curbs—planting shade trees and cleaning up the lots. If there is the quality of surface in the tract it will have to be graded. All this should be done, if possible, before the property is offered on the market, for buyers have been misled so frequently that they are inclined to be suspicious in regard to "proposed improvements." If the tract is some distance away from a car line an effort should be made to secure an extension of the road, if the tract is sufficiently large to warrant the necessary expenditure, in the way of a subsidy or otherwise, toward which adjacent property-owners will generally be willing to contribute.

Shoes, variety of sizes

Finally, all these preparations will contribute.

Finally, all these preparations will be in vain unless the owner fixes the price of property at a reasonable figure that will pay him a fair profit and at the same time give buyers a chance to make something, in case they wish to ing clause, for then he is assured of having good improvements in the neighborhood.

By the time this is done the owner will be ready to make his announcements to the public. If he is wise, he will not try to do this by means of cheap dodgers thrown around in the stores and offices and in the front yards, but will confine his advertising to legitimate journals of wide circulation—such, for instance, as The Times. Here, again, is where a good deal of science comes in. Advertising costs a good deal of money, so it is important to make the advertisements do as much work as possible. The wise subdivider will not dribble a few small notices through the papers for a year or more, as some have done, and then have failed to make many sales, but will lay aside so much money to advertise his property, and then make a short, sharp and active campaign with it, print striking udvertisehents several times a week, and follow it up with reading notices very day, so as to keep the interest f the public aroused. One thousand iollars expended in this manner durag a month will accomplish more than five times that amount distributed over a year.

There is lots of money to be made

There is lots of money to be made during the next few years on the outskirts of Los Angeles by those who have the means to purchase and improve a tract and do it in the right

The demand for property in the West-lake Park region continues very active, and prices are firmly maintained. A reand prices are firmly maintained. A recent sale was that of seventy-five feet on Westlake avenue, between Ninth and Tenth, which was sold by M. N. Avery of the German-American Bank to Mrs. Zara Hoyle, who will build a $5000 house on the property. A good many Los Angeles people have made handsome profits on property bought in this section during the past year.

THE SOUTHWEST THE SOUTHWEST.

Another section in which there has been a considerable increase in the value of property during the past few months is the extreme southwestern part of town, where the transportation facilities have recently been extended. A gentleman named Pardee bought, a few days ago, six lots on Twenty-eighth street, one block west of Vermont avenue, for $2000—a very reasonable price.

THE BALDWIN RANCH.

In connection with the announcement that E. J. Baldwin had concentrated a number of mortgages on his property, he announces that he will make some improvements on the Santa Anita ranch this spring. Mr. Baldwin's possessions in the San Gabriel Valley form one of the most attractive sections form one of the most attractive sections in Los Angeles county. Should it be decided to place them on the market there would soon be a large addition to the population of that section of the valley, which now supports only a small population. At present the strip along the Santa Fé line between Lamanda Park and Monrovia resembles a large European estate more than a section of Southern California within a half hour's ride of Los Angeles.

SAN DIEGO BACK COUNTRY.

A correspondent writing from Chula
Vista, San Diego county, to The Times, complains that the back country of San Diego county is perhaps as little known as any section in the State of California. As the correspondent says, nine-tenths of the people who visit San Diego county think they have seen all that is worth seeing when they run around San Diego city, take a look at the Coronado Hotel and perhaps a trip to Tia Juana, on the Mexican frontier. They generally come to the conclusion that there is little in the county outside of bay and climate, with a few thousand acres of lemon orchard near the coast. The correspondent calls attention to the fact that some of the finest apples in the world are raised in the mountain region of Julian, in the interior of San Diego county. The apple bêti is at an altitude of from 2000 to 4500 feet. There is a considerable amount of snow in winter, which suits those who like a bracing mountain climate. Julian produced over 50,000 boxes last seanson, yet the place is twenty-five miles from a railroad. The apple orchards receive very little cultivation and no irrigation, the rainfall being from 30 to 50 inches. It will surprise many eastern people to learn that this apple land goes a-begging at $10 per acre. This is because the railroad facilities are so poor. It is expected that the railroad will be extended during the coming summer from Foster station into the Santa Maria Valley, which will bring Julian fiften miles nearer to market.

Among other products of San Diego's back country, which some visitors imagine is a desert. is 3,00,000 pounds of honey gathered by the bees last season. A section that can produce four solid trainloads of honey in a single season cannot be altogether a desert. SAN DIEGO BACK COUNTRY.

In the afternoon Mrs. Mills led the devotional exercises, which were followed by a vocal solo by Mrs. L. T. Carter. Mrs. L. M. Hutton read an interesting paper on "Scientific Temperance Instruction," in which see spoke of the teaching in the public schools of the effect of alcohol and tobacco. Mothers were urged to encourage the teachers, and to require it to be taught their children. Miss Ada Bisbee spoke of the young woman's work, and urged that the older women take a greater interest in it. Miss Nellie Morrow and Mrs. Williams sang a duet very pleasantly, and then Miss Mary McCless, formerly indican superintendent of the department of kitchen gardening, read a paper on that subject, urging the teaching of housework to children.

Deputy United States Marshal Thomas Botello shot his wife yester-day morning, not fatally, but the injury day morning, not fatally, but the injury sustained by her is severe enough to cripple her for some time. The bullet, a ball from a 44-caliber revolver, went through her right leg above the knee, missing the bone, but inflicting a painful wound.

The shooting occurred at the home of the couple, No. 216 Wilhart street, about 8 a.m. He says it was accidental, but she says he did it with malice aforethought.

The first information the police re-ceived of the affair, came from Botello ceived of the affair, came from Botello himself, who telephoned to the Police Station for a doctor, accompanying the request with the explanation that he had accidentally shot his wife.

Police Surgeon Bryant and Officer Long proceeded to the scene, where they found Botello greatly excited, binding up his wife's wound and doing all he could to quiet her. But she would not be quieted, She demanded her husband's arrest and declared that he had attempted to muriter her. Botello denied the allegation, and said there was nothing farther from his intentions than to injufe her. He admitted, though, that he had pointed a cocked pistol at her, and that it went off.

Botello expressed a, willingness to submit to arrest and accompany the officer to the station, but, after an inofficer to the station, but, after an investigation, it was not thought necessary to place him under restraint, it being considered doubtful whether the woman would prosecute him, in the end, even if he were arrested. # EATING OLIVES.

THEY SHOULD BE A STAPLE AR TICLE OF FOOD.

The Ripe California Pickled Olive i Superior to the Imported Article. Enters of it Will Be "Healthy, Happy and Long-lived."

The Stockton Independent says: Robert Williamson of Sacramento, writing to The Bee about olive culture, says: "Everybody ought to eat olives," and gives as his reasons for the saying: "It is a well-known fact that olive oil is an excellent medicine, especially for the liver, stomach and kidneys and should be freely used, especially in maiarious climates, to keeu the liver regulated. Keep the liver, stomach and kidneys in good condition and the balance of the system will usually be all right. I assert, without fear of successful contradiction, that the family or person who will eat rear of successful contradiction, that the family or person who will eat freely of ripe pickled olives will not be troubled with chills or other malarious trouble. When you eat daily of ripe olives you get just enough oil to keep the system in good condition, while the green olive is almost entirely devold of oil. By actual test it has been found to contain only a trace of oil.

while the green olive is almost entirely devoid of oil. By actual test it has been found to contain only a trace of oil. Olives are very nutritious. It is asserted on good authority that one pound of ripe olives contains as much nutriment as a pound of the best beefsteak. When our people learn to use the olive as a regular article of diet, use oil on all their salads, and in cooking, instead of unhealthy and badtasting hog's lard, they will be healthy, happy and long-lived."

As nearly all diseases that plague man arise from disorders of the stomach and liver, this advice is particularly pertinent. Americans eat olives as mere luxuries. In the form in which they are eaten they are least valuable and are taken in such small quantities that they can do little good, if any. Of the form in which they are usually eaten. Mr. Williamson says people "can learn to like the ripe California pickled olive much easier than the green (alum-hardened) things that are imported into this country. They are all ahrdened with alum to keep them firm and prevent softening with age or in transit." Now that olives are being extensively grown in this part of California, and the ripe fruit is prepared for eating, the people should try to cultivate the taste for them when they promise so much for the promotion of health, and at the same time, encourage an industry that is so important. The example may be slow to operate, but if Californians will set it and by so doing benefit themselves, it will be sure to spread abroad until olives will become a staple article of rodd instead of a mere delicacy to be nifobled for amusement.

it and by so doing benefit themselves. It will be sure to spread abroad until olives will become a staple article of the food instead of a mere delicacy to be infibiled for amusement.

COVINA.

Preparations Made for Entertaining Many Excursionists.

COVINA, Jan. 30.—(Regular Correspondence.) At a largely-attended meeting of the citizens last Tuesday, it was unanimously decided to accept the proposition of the Southern Pacific Company for an excursion to Covina, provided, however, that the date be changed from March 11 to February 28. A Committee on Arrangements, composed of nine representative business men was appointed with power to select sub-committees. The meeting decided to prepare for at least 1000 or 1500 excursionists, the ladies of the various churches to provider refreshments. Carriages will be provided free, and everything else that is necessary done to properly present the attractions of Covina and adjacent territory to the visitors.

the Receiving Hospital.

At 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon a youth about 19 years of age was found wandering about Twenty-eighth and Main streets. He was barefooted and had nothing on but a pair of trousers and an undershirt. On being arrested he gave vague, wandering replies to the questions of Policeman Miller and Conley, and was brought to the Police Station for medical treatment. There it developed that his name was Walter Salisbury, and from his answers the inference was drawn that he was a nephew of Lord Salisbury, the Prime Minister of England. The conclusion was reached by the officers that Grover Cleveland's message to the lad's illustrious uncle had driven the youth into insanity.

A Times reporter interviewed the young man in the Receiving Hospital. At first he refused to answer questions, but a cigar being proffered him, he talked in a sullen manner that at times brightened. "No. I am not a nephew of Horry Salisbury. I am a nephew of Horry Salisbury of Delawars. I have been in Los Angeles a month, and since I came here have allowed to hold an office of such great importance.

(To the Editor of The Times:) Replying to the report which appeared under this title in the Los Augeles Times of December 24, 1895; When an individual takes advantage of an official position to wreak petty spite and personal malice on one over whom the holding of that position gives him special power, it is shown to be a public misfortune that such a person should be allowed to hold an office of such great importance.

If a superior officer is known to be ignorant or malicious, those in a subordinate capacity may lack the courage to oppose a course of action, even if they heartly disapprove it.

A report like the one before mentioned may be almost entirely a tissue of falsehood; yet if one statement in it is undeniably true, it may deceive many. When the "county board unanimously voted to recommend to the State Board of Education the revocation of her life diploma," the writer's immediate appeal to the State executive officers met a prompt response; and when the "recommendation" was considered by the State Board, at its meeting this month, "the board determined that the said charges were not specific chough in their character to warrant any action by them, and the Los Angeles County Board were so informed."

It is a recognized law of physical science that "water will not rise higher than its source," and so long as superior officers in our educational system are governed by ignorance and a low form of selfishness, just so long will the best and most efficient men and women in one of the noblest of all professions, that of teaching, be greatly hindered and crippled in their work for the public good.

My experience has demonstrated the fact that, while the executive power of the State continues, as at present exercised, no teacher willing to appeal to it need fear the deprivation of any legal, professional right through the ignorance or malice of any county officers of the State.

THE NEEDLES, Jan. 29, 1896.—(To the Editor of The Times:) Will you please allow a schoolboy of the seventh-year class of Needles public school to express his views on the question as to when the nineteenth century ends and the twentieth begins? And, first, I would reply to W. B. Bullard. He says:

the twentieth begins? And, first, I would reply to W. B. Bullard. He says:

"If January I, year 10, was the closing of the first decade and the beginning of the second decade, then January I, year 100, was the closing of the first century, and the beginning of the second century. And for the same reason January I, 1900, will complete the nineteenth century and commence the twentieth century."

Now, how can the same day be the closing of one decade and the beginning of another decade, or the closing of one century and the beginning of another century?

How can the tail of one snake be the head of another snake? If he will reflect a moment he will see that the whole length of the snake must stretch between its head and tail, and that between January I of any year and December 3I, a whole year elapses.

January I, year 100, was not the closing of the first century, but December 3I, year 100 was, and the very next day was January 1, A.D. 101. Every century ends with two ciphers and begins with the unit figure 1. The nineteenth century will end December 3I, A.D. 1900, and the twentieth century will begin with January 1, 1901. A shocking case of ignorance of cor mon sanitary laws was reported by a member of the Humane Society today A man who has a dairy near Yole and Orange Grove avenue was visited by the man who made the report, as it had come to his knowledge that bloody milk had been sold by the dairyman. He found the cows wading about in a corral unspeakably filthy and at once notified him that the saniand at once notined him that the sanitary condition must be improved or arrest would follow. In the course of his examination of the surroundings he saw a cow with a huge sore, twelve or fourteen inches in diameter upon her shoulder, and found upon examination that the dairyman had caused her to receive surricel teasters.

nation that the dairyman had caused her to receive surgical treatment, but that he could not eradicate the disease, which was clearly of a tuberculous or cancerous nature.

The milk from this cow was being sold along with that from others, and when told by the member of the Humane Society, who is also a member of the Board of Health, that the animal must be destroyed, the owner said, "Well, three-fourths of the carcase will be good for food, and I can sell it for meat." He was told that the carcase must be destroyed, and that he would lay himself liable if he did not do so.

low Neglect of a Necessary Precaution Caused Trouble in Pasa-dena-Danger of an Infected House-Individual Drinking Cups.

The necessity of compulsory disinfection of houses where there has been contagious or infectious diseases is exemplified with sad force by the death of a child in Pasadena today from diphtheria, and the probably fatal illness of a young man 16 years of age, in the same family. Some months ago a family living on Millard court were affected with a form of diphtheria, but none of the cases were severe, and no report of them was made at the health office. In the course of time the family removed from the house, and a man report of them was made at the health office. In the course of time the family removed from the house, and a man named McDermid, recently from the East, rented the house, which is a small cottage, and moved into it with his family. They have lived in the house but a few weeks and about a sweek ago one of their children, a boy of 11, was taken ill.

No report was made of his condition to the health office until his death, which occurred this morning, was announced to the Health Officer by the attending physician, as resulting from diphtheria. Children in the neighborhood have gone in and out of the house frequently, even since the illness of the little boy who died today, and there is a small-sized panic in the vicinity over the danger of infection, and it is not unlikely that there may result a number of cases from this carelessness.

The fact that the nature of the illness of the patient was not reported at the health office and the house properly placarded and quarantined has been severely commented upon by people living on Millard court.

The two deaths from diphtheria which have occurred here this week emphasize the need of caution. The Health Officer urges upon teachers in the public schools the necessity of enjoining the children in attendance to provide themselves with individual drinking cups, and further suggests that the cups now in use as common a drinking cups be taken away, and unless the children provide themselves with individual drinking cups be taken away, and unless the children provide themselves with individual drinking cups be taken away, and unless the children provide themselves with individual drinking cups be taken away, and unless the children provide themselves with individual drinking cups be taken away, and unless the children provide themselves with individual drinking cups be taken away, and unless the children provide themselves with individual drinking cups be taken away, and unless the children provide themselves with individual drinking cups be taken away, and unless the child

It is certain that a large number of minor allments of the mouth and throat are communicated by the common drinking cup, and where there is diph-theria or other infectious diseases in a theria or other infectious diseases in a community, and even where the health of the community is apparently perfect. Dr. Rowland declares that the individual drinking cups in the public schools should be insisted upon by every teacher, parent and physician, as "the ounce of prevention," which it will work no hardship to the poorest child in the community to provide, instead of the "pound of cure," which is sometimes so costly.

Found a Foundling.

When Dr. and Mrs. Townsend re-turned from church Wednesday night they saw a bundle lying at the south door of their home, and, thinking that some one had carelessly left a pillow upon the porch, approached to pick it up. Instead of a pillow, they found a small basket, in which there was a male infant about an hour old. The child was wrapped in cotton flannel, and from its condition, it is thought no physician cared for it at birth. It was apparently dead, but vigorous efforts restored it to animation, and today it appears to be a vigorous, hearty child, perfectly formed. No clew has been found to the parentage of the little waif. they saw a bundle lying at the south

Death of Mrs. McLeod.

Mrs. McLeod has been ill for a long time, and bedridden for more than a year. She was exceedingly anxious that a delicate operation should be performed, which gave some promise of success. Dr. Sherwood Dunn of Los Angeles and Dr. Cates, assisted by Dr. Hodge, performed the operation, but Mrs. McLeod was too weak to stand the consequent shock, and death ensued. Deputy Willis and the stenographer of the Superior Court came from Los Angeles, and the case was called at 2 °Clock. After hearing the testimony Deputy Willis decided to submit the case without argument, and the attorneys representing the defendant likewise, after a number of witnesses who had been summoned to testify as to the good character of Jaihalva, had been dismissed without being put on the stand. Deputy Willis announced to the court that he was willing to have it placed in evidence that Jaihalva's character was good. Justice McArthur then stated briefly that the evidence on both sides showed that the trouble was a family disturbance in which no one had been seriously hurt, and he therefore dismissed the prisoner. On motion of Deputy Williste cases against the younger Jaihalva's for battery were also dismissed. Kevivati meetings of much interest are being conducted by the pastor in the Methodist Church.

The Amphion Musical Society, a local organization which has been successfully in operation for three years, will meet Friday evening with Miss Sue Rogers.

AZUSA. AZUSA, Jan. 30.—(Regular Correspondence.) The business men of Azusa confidently expect that when the vexed question of incorporation has been settled definitely and for all time been settled definitely and for all time the town will enjoy the prosperity which it ought to have ere this. because of its desirableness as a health resort and a main business point for the Azusa Valley. Incorporation would do much for Azusa in the way of street improvements and a number of enterprises now in a comatose condition, because of the uncertainty of incorporation in the past, would be carried out. Business men of Azusa claim that the town has advantages of scenery and climate which can be advertised in a way as to result to the material benefit of all concerned.

(Seattle, Wash., Post-Intelligencer:) It looks rather bad for the old-time Senate customs when Senator White of California shakes up the old bones of that body with a pretty agressive assault on what he terms "ancient fletions." The indications seem to point to the fact that the old rules of courtesy, delay and dignified procrastination will have to go.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

OFFICE OF THE TIMES, Los Angeles, Jan. 30, 1896. THE BANK CLEARINGS FOR 1896 One of the most encouraging and trust-worthy signs of the remarkable pros-perity that Los Angeles has enjoyed during the past year is furnished by statistics of bank clearings. The Times statistics of bank clearings. The Times has made comparison from week to week of Los Angeles with some other cities, but the full force of such comparison can only be gained from a perusal of a table recently published in Bradstreet's, giving the clearings of seventy-five cities in the country for the past year. The showing made by Los Angeles in this statement is really a most striking one. Of the seventy-five cities tabulated, there is only one which shows a larger per cent. of increase over the previous year than Los Angeles. That is a small city, and the difference in increase is also small. The average increase for the country at large over 1894 was 18.8 per cent, or, outside of New York, 10.4 per cent. Los Angeles shows an increase of 32.4 per cent., the only larger increase being that of Akron, with 85 per cent.

In 1894 Los Angeles ranked forty-fourth among the cities of the United States in the amount of its bank clearings. At the close of 1893 it stood thirty-eight, having moved up six points, and is now in advanve of such cities as Portland, Or., Sait Lake and Des Moines. Among the seventy-five for which comparative totals are given the only cities whose clearings record shows a decrease in 1895 as compared with the total in the year 1894 are Omaha, St. Joseph, Worcester, Mass.; Sait Lake City, Des Moines, Taccoma, Sloux City, Seattle, Topeka, Lexington, Ky.: Lincoln, Neb., Jacksonville, Fla.; Sloux Falls, S. D.; Hastings and Fremont, Neb.—fiften in all, or 20 per cent. of the total number of cities considered. Among the cities reporting an annual volume of clearings amounting to $100,000,000 or more last year, Chicago dropped from second place in 1894 to third in rank last year. Philadelphia stood fourth in each of the years ago, is now sixth, but Baltimore, which was sixth in rank in 1894, stood eighth in line at the close of 1895. Minneapolis has improved its position by moving up from thirteenth to twelfth, and Detroit has advanced one place to thirteenth, while Louisville, which stood twelfth in twenty-first in rank.

Such a remarkably favorable showing as this, in spite of the fact that the published bank clearings of Los Angeles do not fully represent the volume of business transacted here as compared with other cities, cannot fall to attract wide attention to this city among capitalists and investors.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

THE BREWING BUSINESS. There is a brewery war on in San Francisco between the big brewing syndicate formed some years ago by British capi-tal and the saloons of that city, which threaten to start a new brewery on a large scale. The following facts are given by one of the parties interested regarding the business, of which comparatively little is known to the general public:

regarding the business, of which comparatively little is known to the general public:

"Beer cannot be furnished cheaper than it is, for it costs a little over $4 a barrel to make and deliver to the purchaser; and if it were cheaper saloon men would use a greater quantity, and by so doing would furnish to the prohibitionists and the high-license people an excuse for continuing the attack on the saloons. They would have an opportunitly to urge that there was an increase in intoxication, but that, I contend, would not be true, for it is a well-known fact that beer does not contain more than 5 per cent, of alcohol, and for that reason it is one of the most temperate drinks used.

"In 1875 the output of beer in California was 320,000 barrels, Now it is 820,000 barrels, of which between 550,000 and 600,000 are brewed in this city. In the business of beer making there is used yearly 1,000,000 centals of barley and grain in the State, between 500 and 6000 bales of hops, weighing 200 pounds each, also raised in this State; between $00 and 1000 horses are employed, and the kegs run up into the millions. One thousand men are employed in the business, whose wages in the aggregate amount to $20,000 a week, or $1,040,000 a year. Then there are coopers, carpenters, bricklayers, foundrymen, blacksmiths, horseshoers and others who make a living out of the business, and everything used is Californian, except that which cannot be produced here. This, of course, is exclusive of the bottled-beer brands, of which I have no statistics. The money derived from the business is spent in California."

NEW YORK MARKETS.

Shares and Money.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The stock market today, like its recent predecessors, was almost entirely dominated by the manipulation of powerful speculative leaders. The movement of prices was irregular at times, but a strong undertone prevailed in most instances. The volume of business was fairly large, with Sugar and Reading dividing the honors. The main consideration affecting prices until near the last hour was the action likely to be taken by the presidents of the anthractic-coal railroads at the —adjourned matching in relation to the report of the special conditions of the special properties. The subject was committee on percentages. The subject was considered by Wall street and by foreign operators of the special market. London contributed toward the improvement by purchases of about 40,000 abares of various stocks. The opening was moderately active and firm, but a sagging tendency soon developed, in which Sugar was more conspicuous. The coal stocks were then taken in hand, and the buoyancy in this group was soon communicated to the general market. Reading was the most animated and exhibited decided strength. The bonds were also taken in large blocks by the interests identified with the reorganization. The gains in the general list extended to 3 per cent. in Pacific Mall, Northern Pacific, the Grangers and Union Pacific. The last-mentioned rose 1% per cent. on the progress reported in work of reorganization.

The movement received some impetus on account of the lack of definite reassuring news from the suthracite presidents' meeting, the silver discussion in the Senate at Washington and a stiffening in sterling exchange rates, in the declines Sugar showed Ity per cent., and a number of other stocks about a point. The speculation left of active and weak in tone, but with the net results gains in most in CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Wheat was very nervous. The early English cables were higher, and there were strong continental markets, with good outside buying, which started shorts to covering, and there was an early buige to 65%, after having sold to 64%. But when the most pressing orders were filled there was a hait in the demand which started some realizing and short selling, and the weakness was evidently helped along by manipulation in the interest of some of the big operators, and the price went to 64%. The market turned at this poin, whom some of the big sellers early began, whom some of the big sellers early began, whom some of the big sellers early began, whom some of the big sellers early the started builts, while the interest had been and the market started upwast increased and developed into exciterint, under which there was a rally of nearly 1% cents from the low point. There had been a considerable short interest created during the first hour or two, and in the rush to cover which followed the price went us considerable quantity of wheat had been taken there for prompt rail shipmen to basion and ultimately for export. California wired that her stock had been reduced 1,600,000 bushels during the last two weeks. The mills are starting up at Minnesser, and the flour sales this week were reported a 510,000 burstles. THE PETITION GONE.

The past week a petition has been circulated and signed freely by resi-dents of the city, asking the Southern dents of the city, asking the Southern Pacific Railroad Company to remove the depot from its present location to the foot of Fourth street, mention of which was made in The Times when the petition was first started out, and the same has been forwarded to Los Angeles for the consideration of the Southern Pacific officials there, after which it will probably be sent on to San Francisco, where final action will be taken upon it.

San Francisco, where final action will be taken upon it.

In all probability, if the depot is moved, a line of beautiful palm trees will be planted on both sides of Fourth street from French street to the depots, another cement walk will be laid between the same points and the street graded and graveled, so that it will become one of the pretiest and best drives in the county.

become one of the prettlest and best drives in the county.

The citizens seem in earnest in the matter of having the depot moved and not only individually are they working for the improvement, but the gentlemen who constitute the board of City Trustees and the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce are also giving their goodwill and influence to the project.

The regular meeting of the directors of the S. A. V. I. Company met in their office at Orange last Saturday, the full board being present. The usual routine business was attended to, after which the reports of the secretary, treasurer and supeintendent of ditches were received, read and ordered field.

Accounts as follows were ordered paid by the Finance Committee: Expense, $66.15; cons ruction, $560.89; wages, $400.85; litigation, $35.50; interest, $272.50.

Director Smith stated that F. A. Marks had agreed to modify his old claim for damages, and he was requested to submit the modified claim in writing, after which the case of L. Schom, president of the Olive Milling Company, charged with interfering with sluice-gates at the head of ditch B, was called. After hearing evidence in the matter, Mr. Schom was found guilty as charged, by a vote of 4 to 1 guilty as charged, by a vote of 4 to 1 of the directors. The charge was, therefore, sustained, and Mr. Schom, as president of the Olive Milling Company, was fined $25. The employes of the 8. A. V. I. Company were then instructed to deliver no water to the Olive Milling Company, for dementic, or, irrigation

SANTA MONICA. A Man Bruised and Beaten on the

SANTA MONICA, Jan. 29.—(Regular SANTA MONICA, Jan. 29.—(Regular Corespondence.) Harry Penrose, a man about 45 years of age, is confined to his bed by injuries which he says were received at the hands of three men on the beach Tuesday evening. He is employed as a watchman about the Paradise Villa. Among his other duties is at the properties to discharge. ties is, at the proper time, to discha tank receiving sewage from the Arcadia Hotel. This has to be done when the tide is high. He attended to this duty at about 8:30 p. m., Tuesday. In order to do it he had to stand on a all platform, and as he started to ve it he says a man struck him in face. The appearance of the man the blow were so near simultana-small platform, and as he started to leave it he says a man struck him in the face. The appearance of the man and the blow were so near simultaneous that he had not time to distinguish the man's appearance, so he can now give a description of him. In a short struggie which followed, Penrose forced the man to one side so he dropped below the platform. As Penrose again started to leave the platform as second man struck him on the top of the head with what seemed to be a hard object in a gunny sack. This nearly felled him, the man striking the blow with his left hand. A third man cut him on the right side of the head, and in the struggle he was repeatedly kicked. Covered with blood from his wounds, he made his way to his room in the building, in the rear of the vilia. Companions assisted him, and Dr. Lindsey was called. It was necessary to take a number of sittches in the cut, which was nearly four inches in length, on the right side of his head. Penrose says it was the first time in a long period that he had been at work without a revolver. Harry Hill, a friend of Penrose, says he was with him for two or three hours before the occurrence, and Penrose did not drink anything but two glasses of beer during that time.

Officers were summoned. On investigation they found certain bloodstains which led them to think Penrose had failen from the platform, hurting himself seriously, and as a result of his fall, had gathered an erroneous impression that he had been attacked. About two weeks ago, it is alleged, a colored woman, supposed to be respectable, rented a room at the villa. Soon afterward she shared her room with a white woman regarded of questionable character. The fact was reported to the proprietors of the house and the two women were told to go. Not long thereafter the colored woman, accompanied by a man, approached Penrose and threatened him that he would suffer for having caused her trouble. This remark by her was overheard by Harry Hill, Penrose's friend.

SUPPRESSED A POINT. The case against J. M. Johnson, the road overseer at Victor, resulted in a verdict which has set the whole town laughing. Mr. Johnson was accused of presenting a false claim against the county, and was indicted by the grand Jury. The jury before which he was tried rendered a verdict of not guilty, but with the verdict handed up a separate piece of paper on which was a recommendation that Johnson be an an accommendation that Johnson be at once discharged by the Supervisors. It is to be presumed that the jurymen read the local papers, and had the latter not mutilated the grand jury report in publishing it, the recommendation of the petty jury might have been different. The grand jury report was published in full, save a phrase declaring that Johnson's bills had been vouched for by Supervisor Turner. REDLANDS, Jan. 30.—(Regular Correspondence.) The City Trustees on Wednesday evening listened to the reading of the decision rendered by Judge Campbell in the suit brought by the Domestic Water Company, and Attorney Benentt officially reported the result of the suit, a vote of thanks being tendered him for his efficient work. The matter of providing a bridge for Palm avenue, east of Reservoir street was referred to Trustee Garland and Engineer Tuttle.

Superintendent of Streets Stone was given power to act in awarding the contract for a gutter at the corner of Judson street and Citrus avenue.

R. B. Lane was granted grade stakes for gutters around his recently-acquired property, the Monson place.

Attorney Bennett was instructed to prepare an ordinance for the closing of Walnut avenue between San Jacinto and San Mateo streets.

The ordinance for the extension of the sewer to the new Casa Loma Hotel was passed.

A lease was approved for the new fire department house on State street, the city to pay $19$ per month.

A resolution was passed ordering the grading of Colton and San Bernardino avenues and Texas street.

A profile was adopted for the grading of Highland avenue west of Cajon street. It is possible this will be done under the Vrooman act, each owner of property being equitably assessed, instead of leaving the work to voluntary effort.

CHINO.

CHINO. Jan. 30.—(Regular Correspondence.) The Chino Sugar-beet Company is at present employing about twenty men, who are making the necessary repairs on the plant preparatory to the starting up of the works at the regular season. Manager Cottman says that the company expects to use the product of 9000 acres this year, which will be about the same as 1895, though 2000 acres will be new ground. About 1000 acres cultivated last year which proved to be poor soil for sugar-beet culture, will be abandoned this year, so it is figured that 90,000 tons of beets, the crop of last year turned into the company's plant, will not be increased materially, if at all. The 2000 acres of new land is near Anaheim. Among the improvements contemplated this year at the plant is an additional boiler and two double rotary kilns of large capacity for the reburning of lime, and the experiment of burning the stone direct is to be tried. 'It is also proposed to try the experiment of using oil for fuel in the kilns, instead of coke, which, if successful, will be no small item in the expense of making sugar.

The firm used last year all of the pulp from the beet works, about 45,000 tons, or 50 per cent. of the beets which the sugar company handled.

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 30,-(Regular Correspondence.) Frank Ander-son, a man about town, created a disof State street. This restaurant is con ducted by a Mrs. Clark. It appears that Anderson was deep in his cups and with others was creating a row in the restaurant, when Mrs. Clark ordered him out. Anderson and his comrades retired to the street, and there engaged in a fight. After a few blows had passed Anderson left the crowd, saying that he was going for a policeman. He was called back, and on returning shot at the restaurant, and, going close to the building, placed his revolver against the window and pulled the trigger. Fortunately the cartridge failed to explode, as it is understood that Anderson intended to shoot Mrs. Clark. There is more in this shooting affair than appears on the surface. Parties claiming to know, state that Anderson desires Mrs. Clark to get a divorce that he may marry her, and is angry because she will not. This matter has been kept very quiet, the participants fearing arrest.

The pany will be in touch with these boxes, so that those having a telephone can at once turn in an alarm. The police and other authorities each have a key to the fire-alarm box, and seven keys will be properly distributed in each fire district. These keys each have a distinct number and cannot be taken from these boxes after an alarm is turned, save by the chief engineer. A gong will be put in the residence of the chief engineer of the fire department, one at the telephone office, and one at the engine-house. The introduction of this system insures the city abetter service from the fire department. However, to still improve the fire department, the citizens feel that the city must increase the number of horses on duty at the engine-houses, and do away with the absurd plan of waiting for the arrival of 'bus and hack horses when an alarm is turned in. The present arrangements are a serious drawback to the efficiency of the department, and makes the city appear in the eyes of the tourists as slow and wanting in enterprise.

When the cases came before the Superior Court, Real and Encinas were discharged, the case sagainst them being dismissed by the Di trict Attorney for lack of evidence. Pablo Dominguez, by general consent, pleaded guilty, and received a sentence of one year. Strenuous efforts were made to influnce the District Attorney to accept a plea of petty larceny in his case. BACK FROM A TRIP AROUND THE WORLD, ing Silk in Japan-California ought to Be a Great Silk-grow-

ts. ECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES. SAN DIEGO, Jan. 25,-W. W. Whit minent citizen of this place, has returned from a trip around the world, during which he observed men and things from the standpoint of a Southern Californian He tells of some of his observations in a way especially nteresting to the people who have en unable to see for themselves the sights presented on a world-girdling trip. Mr. Whitney compares the methods of oriental horticulturists with the methods of Southern Californians. These methods of the Orientals, and even of the Europeans, are strangely different from what people in this sec-tion are accustomed to. The Japan-ese are peculiar fruit-growers. They do not allow apples, pears, peaches or other fruits of a like nature to ma-ture on the trees. All fruit is picked when it is very green and generally when it is but half grown. Conse-uently it is difficult to find much palatable fruit for sale. Pears were the best fruit found by the traveler. The Jap-anese custom of growing pears is to build a bamboo platform, and, through fruit found by the traveler. The Japanese custom of growing pears is to build a bamboo platform, and, through this platform the branches of the tree are trained to grow. These branches are spread out on the platform and tied down flat. Thus, the fruit on the branches is fully exposed to the sun on a level plane, causing it to be ripened quickly and uniformly. A Japanese pear orchard resembles a field full of elevated trays, as it were, on which the entire erop of pears is being sunned. In France the peaches are grown on trees tied against a lattice. In order to protect each peach from the attacks of birds each of the peaches is covered with an individual wire-netting. The melons are all ripened under glass. Over each cantalope is a glass covering, like the glass cover used over a French clock. Melon patches of many acres in extent are filled with thousands of these glass covers, each protecting a fair-sized muskmelon. This care in growing melons does not make them very expensive, and the prices are not materially higher than are charged here. Experiments in silk culture now going on in Southern California, which, thus far in many respects, prove highly successful, are being made on a somewhat different basis from the methods pursued in Japan. Here the mulberry trees, which supply food for the worms, are allowed to grow rather rankly, as compared with the mulberry growths in the silk districts of Japan. There the natives insist upon cutting down the foliage and small branches of the trees almost to the earth, much as Californian prune their grape vines after the crop is gathered. The annual pruning gives the Japanese a new growth of young and tender mulberry shoots every season. This quality of mulberry leaf, so the natives claim, enables the worm, which is fed thereon, to yield a better quality of silk than that obtained from worms fed on older and tougher leaves. The center of the Japanese silk industry is in and about Takasaki and Malbashi. Ten years ago this section was devoted entirely to agriculture. Today crease in the wealth of the inhabitants is marvellous. Every house, almost, is a slik-worm hatchery, and women and girls are reeling the silk from cocoons on every hand. More cocoons are produced than the natives can reel, and great cargoes of the surplus are shipped to other places in sacks like wool sacks. One can ride along the streets of the cities for miles and observe the occupants of every house busily engaged in reeling the valuable fiber from thes cocoons. A small army of people is employed exclusively in gathering mulberry leaves with which to feed the silk-producing worms. The entire country side is devoted to growing mulberry trees. In fact, so much more profitable is silk culture, that vast tea plantations have been given over to the mulberry instead of tea. Large factories are kept busy preparing the raw silk for shipment to the United States. Mr. Whitney sees no reason why California should not be as successful as Japan in making silk culture a great industry unless the difference in the price of labor should prove to be the insurmountable obstacle. As The Times has before stated, Mrs. Carrie Williams of this city, who has raised silk here for years, believes, because of the actual conditions realized by her, that it is easily possible for women to secure a most excellent annual return by raising silk worms here in Southern California. The work is of a nature that appeals years, believes, because of the actual conditions realized by her, that it is easily possible for women to secure a most excellent annual return by raising silk worms here in Southern California. The work is of a nature that appeals to refined women in every way. Mrs. Williams proves that worms can be hatched here for nearly twelve consecutive months, whereas the hatching season in Japan is of only about two months' duration. This means that in California cocoons can be produced nearly every month in the year, while in Japan the season is but one-sixth as long. The slowness with which the Japanese progress along industrial lines is manifested by their lack of energy in silk culture. Although silkraising began in Japan early in the third century it is only of recent years that the people have thoroughly awakened to the importance of this resource. They have cultivated tea extensively, because their forefathers did so for centuries, and so with other industries. Mr. Whitney was deeply impressed with the awakening influence which apparently is beginning to pervade the masses throughout the Japanese empire. European and American ideas are taking a firm foothold and promise in the near future to produce results of astonishing magnitude.

The Japanese, even though living in the land of summer showers, understand and appreciate the value of irrigation. Nearly all of their tillable land is flooded. Wherever water can be secured with which to irrigate, the land within reach of this water is leveled in such sized plots as can be easily immersed. Everywhere one can see terraces large and small surrounded by ridges to hold the water within the level plane which it is desired to irrigate. A she cultivation of the land is all done by hand this terracing and ridging is admissable. By this means of irrigation a large acreage of rice is found to be possible on high land. The mulberry trees are thoroughly irrigated to secure a vigorous growth and thereby get a better grade of silk fiber from the worms. In fact, nothing is grown

The Starving Men Who Walk the Streets at Night.

"Darkest New York After Dark" was the somber theme of a lecture given by Rev. A. B. Wilson last evening. The First Methodist Church was moderately well filled, and every one present listened with deep interest to the tale of misery and suffering which seems almost beyond human help.

Dr. Wilson put his audience in a good humor by spinning several yarns, whose connection with his subject was most attenuated, but which, as he naively put it, "filled up wonderfully." Then he began the story of the terrible winter of '94, when counless throngs of homeless men and women paced the bleak New York streets, penniless, starving and maddened with the thought that while they were willing to work, yes, beg and implored it, there was no work to be had.

The Methodist ministers met. One brave man proposed that the churches be thrown open to the poor as true houses or refuge, but the good brothers were horrified at the thought, and proposed instead that meal tickets be issued—to the Methodist poor. Another man with a heart in his breast indignantly exclaimed that '20,000 men walked the streets every night, and that in the face of this terrible truth it was shameful to talk of denominational restrictions on charity.

So some went on in their own narrow ruts and some plunged into the current to aid those struggling there, without stopping to ask if they believed in sanctification through faith.

Dr. Wilson was then pastor of the Eighteenth-street Methodist Episcopal Church in New York. He started in to do the work that came to his hands. Night after night he went forth upon the streets of the great city, accompanied by a few companions stopping the men he met who looked the wearlest and most famished and taking them where they could find food and rest. Every night he found men who had not been in a bed—nay, had not even lain down to sleep—for three days, a week, a month even. They ate with a wolfish hunger when food was at last set before them, while the hopeless look faded out of set before them, while the hopeless look faded out of their eyes with returning strength.

But there was so much to be done, and so few to do it, and so little money to do it with. Dr. Wilson's party could feed and lodge say fifty men a night, but it was only once, and the great seething tide of unfortunates went ever flowing by without rest or pause. There were so few who aided. One baker, a Jew named Fleishman, started a custom which should win the thanks of every man with any humanity in his heart. Every night when the fresh bread was baked he gave to the poor all the loaves that were twenty-four hours old. Some nights 300 people stood in line two hours for a half-load of this bread. Fleishman is dead now, but in his will he commanded his children to continue the custom on penalty of losing their inheritance. There was no need of this clause. His heirs have carried on the good work with a divine pity, and have added a steaming cup of coffee to each bit of bread.

And as these miserable waifs stood there in the driving snow, beating their breasts with their arms and stamping their feet to keep from freezing, the stately walls of Grace Church towered there beside them, a vision of artistic beauty, rich with stained glass, representing an investment of hundreds of thousands of dollars, upon a lot worth millions, And there the empty church with steam heat, filled with softly-cushioned pews, while scores of men and women were starving and freezing to

IMPORTANT INDUSTRY.

THE CHICKEN BUSINESS WORTHY OF RESPECT.

The Poultry Show Well Attended Thoroughbred Birds Pay Better Than Mongrels-Some Enterprising Farmer Might Make Lots of

The poultry show goes merrily on. The attendance is getting better daily, and already the managers feel a comfortable assurance of financial success hat Los Angeles county, alone and un that Los Angeles county alone and un-alded, can furnish a fine display of blooded birds. Of the 400 or more chickens on exhibition, all but four were ralsed in this county. It is the aim of the Los Angeles County Poultry Association to teach people that it costs no more to raise thoroughbred chick ens than to raise mongrels. As for results, it is scarcely necessary to say that a thoroughbred lays more eggs, is better eating, and is in every way bet-ter than a mongrel, that is to say, a neglected chicken whose ancestors were all neglected and ill-taken care of. neglected chicken whose ancestors were all neglected and ill-taken care of.
Organized poultry men have accomplished things which independent farmers could never bring about. The Los Angeles County Poultry Association recently started a movement which resulted in the recognition of the poultry industry by the Agricultural Department. Secretary Morton directed the Bureau of Animal Industry to pay especial attention of the chicken business. Government statisticians were set at work, and compiled a mass of valuable data. The government scientists carved up sick chickens innumerable, and examined the fragments through the microscope, and as the result of all this study and experiment an instructive bulletin was issued, dealing with the diseases of fowls—and especially diseases of the head and throat. The next bulletin will treat of the prevention and cure of the ills which cocks and hens are heir too.

There is a great field for poultry-raising in California. When taken up, not as a sole pursuit, but as one of the branches of farming, it yields excellent profits. The climate is so mild that chickens can thrive all the year round. It has not been developed as its importance demands. In 1895 over $3,000,000 worth of poultry and eggs was imported into California from the east. The tide certainly ought to be turned the other way.

An exhibit of live capons was brought in yesterday. This is a branch of the chicken business which very few Cali-

THE LATEST INVENTION OF CAPT

He Hopes to Walk on the Water pute Over the Ownership of the

"Captain" Maximilian Wolf's water "Captain" Maximilian Wolf's water bleycle is finished and the trial will take place at Westlake Park as soon as the captain can raise enough cash to redeem his prodigy. The machine in question may be viewed by the curious in the rear of S. D. Sturgis's machine shop at No. 208 West Fifth street, and consists of two boat-like affairs fifteen feet long by two wide, which are joined together by three lateral tubes. On the deck of each a bicycle framework is built, with pedals, that are worked in the ordinary way. These pedals turn a cogged wheel, which tramsmits, by means of another cogged wheel, the motion to a pair of paddles underneath each boat. The paddles are built on the principle of a fish's fin, and while one lies flat in the water the other forces the affair forward. At the front of the boat a small rudder is fixed, which is operated by the handle bars. Each boat is fitted up in a similar manner, the affair being virtually a double bicycle.

A man with a gold-headed cane and an air of pride announced himself as Capt. Maximilian Wolf, the inventor, The captain talks in a decidedly foreign accent, and some difficulty was experienced in making out his description of the catamaran bicycle. "It is built to accommodate such men as mail-carriers and sportsmen, being very handy to shoot from," said the captain. "I have it patented in Germany, Austria, France, England, America, everywhere. Ah, it is one great invention. I make all the world stare by and by."

"Why do you make two scats on the affair with two rudders and two sets of pedals?" queried the reporter. "Ah, I make that so you go all 'he quicker," replied the inventor, with a magnanimous smile.

What the result would be if the left rider turned one way and the right another the captain could not state. On the reporter proceeding to make a small sketch of the machine, the captain exclaimed: "That will never do;" rushed off and returned a moment later with a piece of paper big enough to cover one page of The Times. This he explained was the size that he wanted the sketch made. After the sketch was finished the cap tain went on to relate of his numerous other inventions, and described how useful his water bicycle would be, as a platform can be placed between the two boats and when the riders feel tired a little awning may be rigged up and underneath this in company with a good cigar and some cold tea. a good cigar and some cold tea, or other beverage if preferred, a very happy hour may be spent.

He could also build family bicycles, if desired, and there was no end to their utility. "Now," said the captain, "there is my —," but at this moment S. D. Sturgis appeared on the scene desired, and there was no end to their utility. "Now," said the captain, "there is my —," but at this moment S. D. Sturgis appeared on the scene. "Oh, ah, that is —well—I must say good morning; call up and see me at my hotel, the Ramona; hours from 12 till 4. I —" but the captain's last words were lost as he vanished through a back door. Then came the explanation. Sturgis owns the marvel; built it for Wolf, and as the inventor cannot "pungle," Mr. Sturgis goes on the principle "no money, no trial." So when the celebrated trial will come off no man can tell. The captain is evidently trying very hard to raise the needful, as he did not appear at the hotel at the time appointed.

ners;) Although the summit of Great Ararat, which has an elevation of 17,916 feet, yields in height to the peaks of the Caucasus in the north, to Demavend (19,400 feet) in the east, nearly 500 miles away, yet, as Bryce in his admirable book has observed, there can be but few other places in the world where a mountain so lofty rises from plain so low. The summit of Great Ararat has the form of a dome, and is covered with perpetual snow; this dome crowns an oval figure, the length of which is from northwest to southeast, and it is therefore the long side of this dome which you see from the valley of the Araxes. On the southeast, as you follow the outline farther, the slope falls at a more rapid gradient of from 30 to 35 deg., and ends in the saddle between the two mountains at a height of nearly nine thousand feet. From that point it is the shape of the Little Ararat, which continues the outline toward the east; it rises in the shape of a graceful pyramid to the height of 12,840 feet, and its summit is distant from that of Great Ararat aspace of nearly seven miles. The southeastern slope of the lesser Ararat corresponds to the northwestern slope of the greater mountain, and descends to the floor of the river valley in a long and regular train. The unity of the whole fabric, the intimate correspondence of the parts between themselves, in a word the architectural qualities whole fabric, the intimate correspond-ence of the parts between themselves, in a word the architectural qualities of this natural work at once impress the eye, and continue to provide an in-exhaustible fund of study, however long may be the period of your stay.

Fertilize Prune Orchards. (Venturian:) Many farmers are setting out small prune orchards, which is perhaps well, but they need to bear in mind that, when the young orchard comes into bearing, the waste of the plant food begins. From the nature of the crop, this and other fruits are a heavier drain upon the resources of the soil, especially on the side of potash, than most of the farm crops, for in general farming a considerable the other way.

An exhibit of live capons was brought in yesterday. This is a branch of the chicken business which very few Californians have entered. The caponized cocks are much larger and much better eating than the ordinary birds. They always find a market at 25 cents a pound.

John D. Mercer has an exhibit of Partridge Cochins which is attracting many favorable comments. These chickens are dark in color, with beautiful black and brown penciling. Mr. Mercer has ten or twelve fowls of this breed on exhibition.

On Saturday, school children will be admitted to the poultry show for 10 cents, and the children of the three orphan asylums of the city have been invited to visit the show en mass as guests of the Poultry Association.

The homing pigeons of the Catalina pigeon service are attracting much attention. As usual, the few exhibited yesterday will be liberated at 9 a.m. today. The renowned "Orlando," (with a record of 54 minutes.) "Capt. B.," "Flying Jib" and "Thunder Cloud," will be on exhibition today.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY. The Cable Railway is Offered for Sale-News Notes.

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 30. (Regular Correspondence.) The resurrection of the San Diego cable railway is not to be accomplished. For nearly a year it has been hoped that this Fourth street line would again be operated. George B. Kerper of Cincinnati, bought the property for $17,500, and gave the people to understand that he would reproperty for $17,500, and gave the people to understand that he would reopen the line. The Council granted him permission to make an electric system of the property. Mr. Kerper now announces that he will offer the property for sale in March at public auction, in case a private sale is not made prior to that time. MODERN MIRACLES.

Cures Performed by the Boy Wizard that Rival Those of 1800 Years Ago.

Music Hall Again the Scene of the Most Astonishing and Unparalleled Accomplishments.

Los Angeles in a Whirlwind of Excitement Over the Many Phenomenal Cures Performed Upon the Public Stage.

Music Hall Throws Wide Open Its Doors to the Sick and Suffering Tonight and Tomorrow.

The Boy Wisard is Here to Stay. Will Remain Permanently in Los Angeles at 254 Broadway.

"Wonderful!" "Astonishing!" "Marvelous!"
"The work of God!" "Miraculous!" "How can he do it?" and many like expressions were heard as the vast throng-surged out of Music Hall last night, after witnessing the second and most interesting exhibition of the Boy Wizard in healing the sick ever performed in this part of the country.

Music Hall was packed to suffocation, the audience giving expression to their approbation by loud cheers, as patient after patient left the stage relieved of their afflictions.

There has been no medical practitioner, or any other man in this city, who has attracted so much attention or performed so many truly marvelous cures as this youthful healer since his advent here. He is the talk of the town. One hears and sees nothing but "Boy Wizard." He is the chief topic of conversation on the streets, in the stores, on the cars, in offices, at homes—in fact, everywhere. His name, coupled with the marvelous cures he has accomplished the past two days upon the public stage of the hall, before thousand of representative citizens of Los Angeles, has probably been repeated and his cures discussed by every family in the city.

There were many of the most prominent and influential citizens of Los Angeles in the audience, including leading physicians, lawyers, judges and business men. As usual, many would no doubt be very skeptical when they went in, but all were of one mind when they went out, and that was that magnetism, as possessed and exemplified by the "Boy Wizard" last night, does undoubtedly possess most wonderful healing qualities.

While there were many very remarkable cures effected last night (a detailed report of which will be found in another column,) there were three especially marvelous cures that deserve especial mention, both from the fact that one was treated at the request of a prominent physician, and the other two at the request of the audience, and because of the gravity of their condition and the apparent hopelessness of the patients and their friends, and the further fact of

Mrs. Jno. J. Gerkin of Orange, on crutches ten years from infiammatoryrheumatism, was assisted to the stage, but after two minutes' treatment declared the pain had entirely departed. She descended the steps unaided. E. V. Johnson, F street, Pico Heights, locomoter ataxis, on crutches six years, after treatment walked to his friends in the audience unaided and without his crutches. Mrs. Linda Holtz, of 500 W. Eighth street, had been a sufferer from muscular paralysis two years. With assistance of crutches and two men she reached the stage. Two minutes later she walked to her seat alone and unassisted.

Besides the above, many others, with as many varied complaints, were treated, and all, with one exception, stated they were either cured or greatly benefited.

The demonstration last night, as on each previous occasion, was a most wonderful and fattering success. The incredulous have been convinced. Skepticism has vanished, and the public of Los Angeles are now converts to the wonderful power of animal magnetism in healing the sick as possessed by the Boy Wizard.

healing the sick as possessed by the Boy Wizard.

Last night was the second public demonstration given by him in this city. Tonight will be the last public exhibition given to both sexes. The matinee tomorrow is for ladies only and the evening for gentlemen only. No girls or boys admitted. The admission will be free, seats free and treatment on the stage will be free to all, after which those who desire treatment may call at the permanent office, corner Broadway and Third street.

There seems to be a general impression that only such diseases as are treated on the stage are curable. This is altogether wrong, as all chronic diseases are amenable to animal magnetism, especially such cases as catarrh, chronic diarrhoea, neuralgia, nervous prostration, diabetes, Bright's disease, epilepsy or fits, tumors in all conditions, diseases of a delicate nature, diseased bone, hip disease, deafness, heart disease, bladder disorder, hemorrhoids or piles, chronic rheumatism, obstinate constipation, disorders of women, cataract of eyes, cancer, sciatica, paralysis, fistula, liver complaint, kidney troubles, scrofula, gravel, throat disorders, impotency, and, in fact, all chronic diseases quickly yield to animal magnetism in the hands of this wonderful magnetist.

The demonstrations tonight tomorrow afterneon and night, will open with the following lectures by Prof. W. Fletcher Hall, as follows:

Sexus Matinee, Feb. 1, 2:30 p.m., private lecture to ladies only.—Subject, "Suffering Woman and Her Herole Fortitude to Endure." Saturday night, February 1, private lecture to men only.—Subject, "Our Disobedience of Nature's Laws."

TO THE AFFLICTED, Those who are the most seriously afflicted and wish to be cured tonight, especially those on crutches, the rheumatic, paralyzed, deaf and lame, who wish free treatment on the stage, will be given complimentary tickets by applying to the doorkeeper each evening, which will entitle them to free admission and free treatment on the stage.
